A Great German Ramsay MacDonald Defined
To Jail Respectability
Vanishing Legends

—By Arthur Brisbane—

THE BURIAL OF STRESSEMANN, Germany's truly great statesman, emphasizes the enduring power and common sense of the new German republic.

There was no military display of any kind. Von Hindenburg, aged President of the republic, walked behind the coffin, followed by the entire diplomatic corps on foot.

The funeral procession passed under the Arch of The Emperors, built to the glory of the German imperial family, and until the war reserved exclusively for Hohenzollerns.

Stresemann was the first commoner whose body ever passed under that arch excepting Friedrich Ebert, the Socialist harnessmaker, first president of the German republic.

Germany belongs now to thinking Germans, and to the people of Germany, and is managed for their glory and profit.

The difference between Ramsay MacDonald and some other important men, that talk about peace, is well expressed by W. R. Hearst in an article welcoming the labor prime minister. Mr. Hearst says of Mr. MacDonald:

"He does not come from the CLASSES that send people to war. He comes from the MASSES who are sent to war."

Those that buy whiskey from bootleggers were horrified at the decision of a federal judge holding the bootlegger's customer guilty of conspiring to transport liquor in defiance of law.

A higher court reversed that decision and bootleg customers, including 75 per cent of our "better element," were comforted.

New Senator Sheppard of Texas, as dry as the deepest spot in Death Valley, suggests amending the Volstead Act to make purchasers of liquor as guilty and criminal as bootlegging sellers.

But an amendment, of course, would strengthen prohibition enormously. Respectable prosperity would refuse to buy, fearing jail, and blackmail after buying.

But Senator Sheppard's amendment probably will not pass; many legislators are themselves bootleg customers, and don't believe in taking prohibition too seriously.

Nicholas Weinand, 54 years old, a member of Chicago's fire department when the city burned, says Mrs. O'Leary's cow had nothing to do with the fire, and nobody knows how it started.

Pleasing legends are attacked, but survive attack.

William Tell never shot an apple off his son's head, but the story has been useful, causing millions to take an interest in struggles for freedom.

The boy did not stand on the burning deck, George Washington did not cut down the cherry tree, or say that he could not tell a lie.

Thomas E. Milten, recently drowned, had reorganized Philadelphia's street car system, establishing good relations with labor.

His will leaves millions for "the promotion and advancement of the cause of co-operation between capital and labor."

Rather a difficult program, even with several millions back of it.

Labor wants from capital a fair share of what both produce, and doesn't always get it.

Capital wants from labor ...

Officers After New Suspect; Police Car Is Trailed to Woman's House

Boston police inspectors today left for the western part of the state to arrest a man identified as having engaged in a drunken row with a girl in a Back Bay restaurant during which she threatened "to tell what he knew about the murder here of Samuel Reinstein.

Identification was made by a photograph by persons who were in the Palais d'Or in Huntington ave., when the girl told her secret:

"If you don't kick back the wrist watch and ring I'll tell what you know about the murder of Sammy Reinstein."

The man sought, believed to possess most important knowledge of the shooting of the New York racketeer, is said to be in hiding in the western part of the state.

51,000 HOWLING FANS SEE FIRST WORLD SERIES BATTLE

Wrigley Field, Chicago, Oct. 8—Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics, American League pennant winners, captured the first game of the world series here this afternoon, beating the Chicago Cubs, National League standard-bearers, before a capacity crowd of 51,000 howling fans.

Howard Ehmke, the last pitcher Mack was expected to start with, led the A's to victory. Charlie Root, the Cubs' ace, started on the hill for the natives and was charged with the defeat.

The triumph makes the Quakers heavy favorites to win the championship.

The score was 3 to 1.

FIRST INNING.

Athletics—Bishop up. The first ball pitched by Root cut the heart of the plate for a strike. The next one was fouled in back of the stands. Ball one, high. Root tried to tease Bishop in going after two wide ones, but failed. Bishop then bounced gently to Grimm, who sold into first for the putout. Haas up. Haas let the first one go by for a ball and then fouled one into the stands. He took a wild swipe at one right through the middle but missed it. He let the next one go by and was called out on strikes. Cochrane up. Cochrane took a strike right through the alley. He had to dodge the next pitch, which was high and inside. Mickey fouled one off the screen in back of the plate, and then let a bad one go by, making the count 3 to 2. He took first on a pitch that was a foot outside of the plate. Simmons up. Simmons let a curve go by and Klem called it a strike. Root made two attempts to catch Cochrane off first, but Mickey was playing safe. A curve went wide for a ball. Simmons took another strike, also a curve. At then missed a fast one on the inside for a strikeout. NO RUNS.

Cubs—McMillan up. Ehmke's first pitch was inside and almost hit McMillan. The next cut across the plate for a strike. Mac let a wide curve pass for a called ball. He hit a long foul into the second tier of the stands in left. Then he popped up a foul which Cochrane grabbed near the stands. English up. The first pitch to English was a slow floater which went by for a strike. The same kind of a toss was wide and was called a ball. The second ball was low and inside. English then smashed a liner which bounced off Ehmke's hand to Boley at short. It was too tough for him to handle and went as the first hit of the series. Hornsby up. Hornsby let a perfect strike go by. Rogey then hit a long fly to right which Miller gathered at the fence near the bleachers. Wilson up. He hit the first ball pitched on a soft line to Miller. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING

Athletics—Foxx up. Foxx took a slash at the first pitch and singled over short. Miller up. Miller swung at the first one for strike. The second was a curve inside and called a ball. Miller then fouled one in back of the plate. He hit a third strike, Root took the same spot. He let a high one go by and then missed a fast one for a third strike. Dykes took the first strike which was a curve. Jimmy sent foul past third. Dykes let one go for a ball. Dykes lined a single between short and third. Foxx stopping at second. Boley up. Boley put on the bit and run, but fouled one into the stands. He let a wide curve go past and then dropped a high foul in the boxes back of third base. Boley bounced to English who scooped the ball up and tossed to Hornsby forcing Dykes at second. Roger cut it to first in time to complete a fast double play. NO RUNS.

Cubs—Cuyler up. Cuyler missed a swing. And he did it right over

Big Series Mystery, Where Were the Umpires?

Wrigley Field, Chicago, Oct. 8—For some strange reason there was a delay of fully 15 minutes after the ceremonies had all been completed and the pitchers were all warmed up for the start of the first World Series game. There was no sight or sign of an umpire until 1:45.

THREE TICKET SCALPERS HELD

Chicago, Oct. 8 (AP)—Three alleged scalpers of World Series tickets, two of them Detroit high school boys, the other from Chicago, were arrested by Government agents on downtown streets today.

The two school boys, giving their names as Irving Kirschvei, 18, and Harry Katz, 18, offered several tickets at $25 each. They told the officers they came to Chicago for the series and ran out of funds. They said they accepted an offer to sell tickets on a commission basis.

Save Mother From Jail in Rum Case

Following a plea by Probation Officer McSweeney, Mrs. Katherine L. Leavitt of 36 Beach rd., Revere, mother of three children, was placed on probation by Judge Brewster in U. S. District Court for selling and possessing liquor.

After she pleaded guilty, McSweeney told the court she had been deserted by her husband and had sold liquor to support her three young children. He recommended leniency and said he was confident she would give no further trouble. She was given a suspended sentence of a year and a day.

Noisy Quake Makes 2 Maine Cities Shake

Lewiston, Me., Oct. 8.—Two distinct earthquake shocks were felt in the twin cities of Lewiston and Auburn this morning.

House were rocked faintly and dishes rattled on shelves, but no damage was reported. The earth tremors were not reported outside the limits of the two cities.

The first shock, lasting two or three seconds, began at 7:20, arousing many sleepers. The second, of about the same duration, was felt 10 minutes later. A dull rumbling sound accompanied the tremors.

Today's shocks were the third series felt in Maine since February of 1925. Both of the previous quakes were spread over a much larger area and were much more severe.

Slight readjustment of the earth strata was given by Prof. Fisher of Bates College as the cause of the disturbance.

Rising of the earth's crust, a periodical movement in Northern New England, once covered by the glacier, undoubtedly caused the tremors felt in Maine today according to Prof. Kirtley F. Mather of the Harvard University seismograph station.

Every two or three years similar tremors are felt in this district, he said. They are never serious in result, he pointed.

Today's quake was not registered on the Harvard seismograph because plumbers pounding on pipes around the building in which it is housed disturbed the delicate recording instruments.

On Aug. 12 a quake, of much more serious proportions than that felt today shook a section of western Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and southern Canada. Considerable property damage was caused in western New York state.

END OF SUBS UP TO PARLEY

Tokyo, Oct. 8 (AP)—The British invitation to Japan to participate in a five-power naval conference was published here tonight after its receipt by the Foreign Office.

The invitation, approximately 1000 words, reviews the Anglo-American conversations, in which it was stated agreement had been reached on the following:

1—The Kellogg pact is the starting point of the agreement.
2—Anglo-American parity of all naval categories shall be reached by the end of 1936.
3—Desirability to reconsider the battleship replacement programs of the Washington treaty of 1922.

Mystic Love Signs Related by R. I. Divorcee in $200,000 Suit

DAUGHTERS HEAR HER TESTIFY

Former Employer, E. F. Cary, Dictated Endearing Symbols, Says Mrs. Sanctuary

Providence, Oct. 8.—Mystic love signs were made by Mrs. Grace L. Sanctuary, blonde divorcee, when she took dictation from her former employer, Edwin F. Cary, real estate operator, according to her testimony in Superior Court in her $200,000 breach of promise suit.

These signs, she said, were made at Mr. Cary's suggestion.

"He asked me to make three spaces after a period instead of the customary two," she testified, "and when I did so he said to me 'Those three spaces mean I love you.' From that time I always followed the practice when taking dictation from him.

"At the end of a paragraph or when he finished a thought in his dictation he frequently put his arm around me and kissed me. He kissed me every noon before he went to lunch at the Turks Head Club, unless prevented from doing so by the presence of someone in the office."

While her two daughters, Jane, 10, and Harriet, 13, listened in the courtroom Mrs. Sanctuary told of how she left Mr. Cary's employ as a stenographer and of their clandestine meetings.

"He told me that it was necessary to conceal our engagement and friendship because his divorce suit mine were still pending," she said.

"We had rendezvous at various places which he changed from time to time. One of these was the end of the Douglas st. trolley line to which point I would ride and he would be waiting in his automobile. Other meeting places were in Easton st., Olneyville, and in Cranston st. near Pearl and Summer sts."

CHILDREN HEAR HER

Mrs. Sanctuary gave the testimony in explaining a note read to the jury which she had received. She wrote, it read: "You take next lectro to same place and wait."

The blonde typist was the center of attention for her two little daughters, as she faced the jury. The eyes of Jane, the younger, did not leave her mother's face for a second during the time she was on the witness stand. She was completely absorbed in her mother's colorful story. Occasionally Harriet sobbed.

Mrs. Sanctuary told of how Mr. Cary built a "love nest" in Georgiaville after she complained that his housekeeper at his camp, "The Port of Missing Men," had treated her coolly.

"We won't go there again; I'll build a love nest for you," she quoted Cary as having said.

"We first visited our love nest in Georgiaville on Jan. 1, 1923—the year that was to mean so much to us," she testified. "We remained there for two hours that day, discussing our divorces and our prospective marriage, as well as a honeymoon in the form of a round the world trip to last four months."

TELLS OF "LOVE NEST."

Mrs. Sanctuary told of selling her furniture at Cary's request and of moving into the Broadway apartments, owned by him, from her home in Vineyard st.

"Get rid of your furniture at any price," she testified he told her. "You'll never want it again. You will have everything modern and up-to-date."

She explained that the expense of moving, renovating bedroom furniture, building a book case and linen closet, as well as the purchase of linen was borne by Mr. Cary.

Prior to leaving Mr. Cary's employ, to prepare for marriage, she said, he paid her $20 a week salary.

The trial, interrupted on one of the attorneys could attend the funeral of a relative will be resumed tomorrow.

BIRTH CONTROL IS DEFENDED

"Birth control is today in a position of cultural lag," said Prof. Clarence Skinner of Tufts College today in Hotel Statler at a luncheon of the federal committee on birth control.

The purpose of the luncheon was to launch a campaign to repeal federal legislation which prohibits dispensing birth-control literature.

"What we should do is to bring birth control laws up to date and have them abreast of the world as it is today," he continued.

Dr. Alice Hamilton of Harvard said, "Too many children are a hardship on poor women. Birth control literature should be removed from the 'obscene literature' class it now occupies."

Mrs. Irving W. Bailey was appointed Massachusetts chairman to conduct the campaign in this State.

Among the 125 persons present were the following: Dr. Robert Dexter, Dr. Alexander Forbes of Harvard Medical School, Prof. Thomas N. Carver of Harvard, Dr. Robert Jones and Mrs. Francis H. Bangs.

4—Total abolition of submarines and limitation of conferences with other naval powers.

The invitation says that it was considered desirable that the conference should be summoned for the third week in January to consider categories of vessels not covered in the Washington treaty and to deal with the questions covered in paragraph 2, article 21, of that treaty.

It stated that the British government was willing in the interval before the conference to continue informal conversations with Ambassador Matsudaira in London on any points requiring elucidation.

Great Britain proposes in due course to communicate its views on the conference agenda and hopes that Japan will make a correspondingly communication.

It expresses hope that the fruits of the conference will facilitate the work of the League of Nations' preparatory commission and the subsequent general disarmament conference.

Hoover Reviews Meeting as MacDonald Departs

Washington, Oct. 8 (AP)—President Hoover said today the conversations with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald were being carried on in an atmosphere of absolute frankness, and that "neither of us has anything in reserve."

The President said:

"These conversations are continuing in the most friendly of atmospheres. We fortunately have no controversies between our countries to be settled. We are, therefore, able to discuss our mutual problems in the long distance view and solely in the broad aspect of human welfare.

"Moreover, we are able to carry on our conversations without circumlocution and in absolute frankness with full recognition of the point of view of both sides. Neither of us has anything in reserve. We have to search only for those things that will promote the increase of goodwill and moral solidarity between the two countries. The Prime Minister possesses a wealth of Scotch humor which lubricates any discussion.

ALL U. S. FRIENDLY.

More important than all is the great confidence shown by the press and the American people of genuine friendliness to the Prime Minister of Great Britain and to his people. The demonstration that is in progress is in itself of great importance; that any incidental conclusions that he and I might come to on matters concerning our two nations

The Prime Minister and his daughter, Ishbel, took leave today of the President and Mrs. Hoover, whose guests they had been since Saturday. They returned to the British Embassy, which will be their home until they leave for Philadelphia and New York, Thursday, en route to Canada.

The second ceremonial dinner of his visit was arranged for Mr. MacDonald tonight at the British embassy, following the first state dinner of the Hoover administration in his honor last night at the White House.

EMBASSY DINNER TONIGHT

In accordance with long-established custom in the Diplomatic Corps, Secretary and Mrs. Stimson were the highest ranking American guests invited to the embassy dinner, Vice-President Curtis being asked to bring Mrs. Gann to the reception following.

The Secretary of State will be the host to the Prime Minister at dinner tomorrow night, the last he is to spend in Washington. This will be a "stag" affair, because of Mrs. Stimson's health.

Between times Mr. MacDonald will be entertained at luncheon by the Canadian Minister and Mrs. Vincent Massey and the Overseas Writers' Association.

France Maintains Stand for General Arms Treaty

Paris, Oct. 8 (AP)—The French Foreign Office announced today it had had no opportunity to examine the British invitation to a five-power naval conference, and that France's answer would depend upon its contents.

It was said France had not changed its attitude, expressed several weeks ago, that it would participate in such a conference always with the idea that its conclusions would form merely one stage of general disarmament.

Ishbel at Concert of Southern Songs Today

Washington, Oct. 8 (AP)—Ishbel, daughter of Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain, today accepted an invitation to go to the Library of Congress, where a program of southern negro and Kentucky folk songs had been arranged.

Mrs. Hoover, Lady Isabella Howard, wife of the British ambassador, and Miss Ishbel made up the official party to the concert to which about 500 persons had been invited.

Seek Identity of, Sunken Airplane

New London, Ct., Oct. 8 (AP)—Coast guard officials today were still endeavoring to identify the airplane struts and braces which were hauled up from the bottom in six fathoms of water off Block island by George Darling, fisherman, of this city.

Pass Up State Dinner

Speaker and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth were conspicuous by their absence at the White House dinner to Premier Ramsay MacDonald. The Longworths sent their "regrets" to President Hoover when they realized Mrs. Dolly Gann was to be the "second lady," a position to which Mrs. Longworth aspires.

SAILOR CADETS GET DIPLOMAS, PLAN FIGHT

Appeal to Be Made to Gov. Allen by Nautical Grads; Three Prizes for One

Resenting alleged official inferences that they are a bunch of complaining kids, not tough enough to sail the seas, cadet graduates of the Massachusetts nautical scholarship Nantucket today tucked their new diplomas in their pockets.

Then they busied themselves in a campaign to force upon Gov. Allen a thorough probe of improper food and treatment during their sea voyage.

Graduation exercises were conducted in a picturesque setting aboard the training vessel Bay one 22 amateur "jobs" being certified as able seamen and potential ship's officers had their theft of the day dampened by doleful memories of "corn-soaked beans" and dish-water coffee.

WINS THREE PRIZES

A spokesman for the graduates declared "well show how tough we are by asking this matter of bad grub to the Governor through regular representatives of our districts. We don't intend to let the affair drop. We held a meeting just before the exercises and agreed on our course."

Myron W. Chamberlain of Three Rivers proved himself the champion of champs when the annual awards were announced.

He won three prizes, one from the Maritime Association of the Chamber of Commerce for skill in navigation; another from the Alumni Association and the Wood-Whitman Memorial prize for the highest mark in seamanship and navigation.

T. Girard Hoyle of Quincy shared honors with Chamberlain in the first two awards in which two cadets are provided for.

DIPLOMAS AWARDED

The prizes were presented by William P. F. Ayer of the Maritime Association governing board, Edward J. Hogan, president of the Alumni Association, and Commissioner Theodore L. Storer of the board of commissioners of Massachusetts Nautical School.

The exercises were opened with prayer by Capt. Evan W. Scott, U. S. C., followed by addresses by Capt. William E. McKay, chairman of the board of commissioners; Capt. Ralph Earle, U. S. N., president of the Worcester Polytechnic Institute, and Clarence R. Torkington of the General Electric Company.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Frederick T. Doyle and Asst. U. S. Atty. Hubert Thompson conferred for more than an hour in the office of U. S. Atty. Frederick H. Tarr as a result.

They said they had no word of a wedding between Harry Malaga and Betty Martin, who are at large under $500 bail each in connection with the vice cleanup. Reports from New York said the couple planned to be wed before today although they were informed when bailed that if they left Massachusetts their bonds would be forfeited.

Thompson said the marriage, if it goes through, will not injure the government's case.

Federal officials today confirmed the statement published by the Boston Evening American yesterday that telephone numbers of Boston police officials were found in Jean Parker's possession.

HELD IN $2000

They refused to state who these officials were and would not say how far their investiagtion had carried them in regard to the alleged linking of police heads with the vice ring.

Although questioned for three hours in the office of U. S. Atty. Frederick H. Tarr, the woman failed to confirm information federal forces had obtained.

Today she was arraigned before Judge Charles T. Carr in municipal court on charges of larceny and receiving stolen goods, consisting of Oriental rugs, the property of Peck & Hill of Clarendon st., Back Bay. Through her counsel, Atty. Julius Stone, she pleaded not guilty and was granted a continuance to Oct. 18, with bailed fixed at $2000.

OTHER WOMAN HELD

Another woman was also granted in Malden court charging her with a statutory offense under the name of Jean Gerard with one Joseph McCabe at the Strathmore rd. house where the woman was arrested.

The complaint was made by Chief of Police John F. Welch of Medford on evidence obtained during and after her arrest.

Oriental rugs were found in this house.

Margaret Wheeler, self-styled wife of Reinstein, held on statutory charges, appeared in Roxbury court and her case was continued to November 6.

Eva Offerman, who has been held by the police some weeks in connection with the Reinstein case, was released.

Young Wife, Hit by Taxicab, Is Dead

Putnam, Ct., Oct. 8 (AP)—Mrs. Doris Deteus, 21, who last night was struck by a taxicab while crossing the street in front of her home, died today in a hospital. The driver, Rudolph Miour of Putnam, was arrested.

YD REVIEWED BY GOURAUD

Paris, Oct. 8.—Two hundred members of the Yanks' Division, A.E.F., who are in France to dedicate a memorial church at Belleau, today marched in this city and were reviewed by Gen. Gouraud, world war military governor of Paris and "Lion of the Argonne."

The French commander also entertained a delegation of the division at luncheon. Later the American veterans visited the French Army museum and the tombs of Napoleon and Foch.

Wearing a full dress of old-time army blue, Maj.-Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, war-time commander of the 26th division, laid a bronze palm on the grave of the Unknown Soldier under the Arch of Triumph in the presence of hundreds of persons.

Mayor Edward H. Larkin of Medford also placed a wreath, the tribute of 30 Massachusetts cities. A third wreath, sent by Mrs. Curtis Guild of Boston, widow of a Massachusetts governor, was also laid on the tomb.

Present at the ceremony were Capt. Jacques, representing the U. S. ambassy, and Piscount Benoit D'Asy.

The Y. D. officers attending included Brig.-Gen. John H. Sherburne, Col. Frank M. Hume, Col. Frank J. Keville and Ralph M. Eastman, president of the Y. D. Club.

Woman Faints as Brother Is Convicted

Mrs. Dorothy Ross of Watertown became hysterical and collapsed in Middlesex Superior Court, East Cambridge today after a jury pronounced her brother, Patrick Gardner, 27, of Somerville, guilty of larceny.

He was found guilty of theft of $325 from Miss Virginia Sirois of Franklin Square House, his erstwhile fiancee. The money was advanced by her to equip their prospective home. Mrs. Ross introduced the couple, according to the testimony, and they became engaged a week later.

Real estate values are growing steadily in Boston. If you are interested in very low priced homes see the home bargains offered today in the Classified Ads.

WALSH OPPOSES BILL TO ARREST RUM BUYERS

Hawes and Others Join in Condemning Sheppard's Proposal in Senate

Washington, Oct. 8.—The Sheppard proposal to make liquor buyers equally guilty with sellers was assailed in a statement today by Sen. Hawes, Democrat, Missouri, as one that would create "more domestic disorder, more spies" and "more informers."

Hawes asserted it "would put another army of millions of men and women in the lawless class."

"To my mind it is silly," he added. If the scope of the 18th amendment is to be extended it should be extended by another amendment to the Constitution. The submission of a constitutional amendment at this time might be a good thing; it might provide a referendum desired by many."

Senator Walsh (D.) of Massachusetts announced he would fight the proposed Sheppard bill.

WALSH TO LEAD FIGHT.

"I am opposed to it as I am opposed to the Volstead act," Walsh said. "There is only one good thing about it. That is its extreme character. If enacted it may arouse the American people to a realization of the dangerous and unsound character of the entire Volstead law.

"After a few million Americans are sent to jail in case the Sheppard bill becomes law, the people may realize the folly of the prohibition law."

Sheppard today said he counted on the votes of both wets and dry to enact his bill. He conceded that it was stringent, termed it the logical completing step in prohibition, and expressed the opinion that it would be supported by the nation and bring actual enforcement.

"WOULD NULLIFY LAW."

The bill was described today by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment as one that would nullify that amendment.

That view was set forth in a statement by Henry H. Curran, president of the association.

"The place to put a prohibition of purchase is in the 18th amendment, after which it will be time enough to talk about putting it into the Volstead act," Curran asserted.

Sheppard said the proposal contained in his bill was not part of the amendment, which he sponsored in the Senate, because of the time required then to get the latter could not be passed if it contained such a clause.

The recent Philadelphia court decision holding that a liquor buyer could not be punished, together with continued advance of prohibition sentiment and achievement," he thought, had now made introduction of his bill advisable.

The Texas senator said he was influenced by "general opinion" among prohibitionists, including Bishop Cannon, dry leader of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

McNab Plans New Laws to Enforce Prohibition

San Francisco, Oct. 8 (AP)—John L. McNab, San Francisco attorney, returned from Washington today with the announcement that he was about to begin drafting legislation for better prohibition enforcement and relief of federal court congestion.

McNab was chosen by President Hoover to plan a statute to take administrative machinery of prohibition enforcement from the Treasury Department and place it under the jurisdiction of the Department of Justice.

"The staggering part of the task that President Hoover has asked me to undertake is that of restoring the federal courts to their former position of respect in the eyes of the people of the United States," said McNab.

"Prohibition has brought into the federal court a tremendous number of cheap misdemeanor cases that have reduced the dignity of these high tribunals to the common level of police courts.

"To correct this evil we shall have to bring more judges into crowded districts, or increase the number and powers of federal commissioners, or create an inferior federal court, or do all three."

Evening Classes in Fine Arts Open

The Boston museum of fine arts has resumed its evening classes for instruction in drawing, painting, modeling, design, metal work and interior decorating.

The last mentioned course is given by Elwyn G. Goodwin to prepare students for practical work. Pupils may register at any time for these classes.

'GRANDMA OF AIR,' MRS. ALMATIA BENNETT, DIES, AGED 103 YEARS

MADE FIRST FLIGHT WHEN SHE WAS 95

Last Trip in Plane Took Place on Her Anniversary, a Month Ago

Chicopee, Oct. 8 (AP)—Mrs. Almatia Bennett, who achieved local fame by taking to aviation on her 95th birthday, died early today, exactly one month after her 103d birthday, which was observed with a short flight over a local airfield.

"Grandma" Bennett, as she was affectionately known, passed away in her sleep, her life gradually flickering out from the infirmities of age, which set in quickly after she enjoyed the flight that marked her 103d birthday. Friends said she had been sustained by the prospect of this flight.

She first came into prominence on her 88th birthday when she flew over Portland, Me., in an open plane piloted by Capt. Harry Jones of Old Orchard. At that time "Grandma" Bennett made a date with Capt. Jones to fly with him again on her 100th birthday and she kept it.

On her 101st birthday she motored to Boston, whence she flew to Old Orchard and Portland. Since that time she had flown three times over the Connecticut valley. On the last occasion, a month ago, she was piloted by Miss Maud Irving Tait of this city.

Mrs. Bennett was born at Freedom, Me. At the age of 13 she came to Chicopee Falls with her parents.

AIR TOURISTS HOP FROM N. Y.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Oct. 8.—Forty-one of the 41 planes participating in the National Air Tour had arrived here from Springfield, Mass., shortly before 1 p. m. today, and at 2 o'clock began to take off for Philadelphia.

The Spartan, which did not leave with the others from Springfield this morning, was expected to catch up, however, on the leg to Philadelphia.

Secretary of State Gets Cold at Camp

Washington, Oct. 8.—The first casualty in the engineering operations at the Hoover camp has been reported.

On his return Secretary Stimson said he had contracted a cold by getting his feet wet during a dam building project.

This did not prevent him from being elated over the result of the week-end conversations between President Hoover, Prime Minister MacDonald and himself.

Carolinas Still Battling Floods

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 8 (AP)—Lower South Carolina and eastern North Carolina today continued to battle against flood waters which have poured down from the mountains to inundate large areas in the lowlands.

In South Carolina there was a general tieup of railways, with rerouting of all important trains. Red Cross and other relief organizations were caring for hundreds driven from their homes.

Jeanne Eagels' Body Borne to the Grave

Kansas City, Oct. 8 (AP)—Under gloomy skies, reminiscent of her greatest starring vehicle, "Rain," the body of Jeanne Eagels, Broadway actress, today was carried by friends to its final resting place.

Admirers from all walks of life filed past the casket at a south side funeral chapel from which the body was taken to St. Vincent de Paul Catholic church. The church was filled, many representatives of the stage attending the services.

140 Killed in Raids on Manchuria Border

Harbin, Manchuria, Oct. 8. (AP)—Chinese and foreign sources today gave support to White Russian reports that more than 140 white Russian men, women and children have been killed along the border north of Hailar by raiders from the Russian side of the Manchurian frontier.

High Court to Rule on Barrel Seizures

Washington, Oct. 8 (AP)—The Supreme Court was asked today to pass upon the right of prohibition agents to seize barrels, jars and other containers which might be used in illegal manufacture of intoxicants. Ike Dannovitz of Pittsburgh brought the case.

G. O. P. LOSES ANOTHER TILT ON TARIFF

Democrats and Independent Republicans Vote Down Regulars on the Labor Clause

Washington, Oct. 8 (AP)—The Senate today rejected a Republican admendment to the tariff bill to extend to labor, agricultural and consumers' organizations the right now given manufacturers to intervene in customs cases. The vote was 44 to 41.

Advocated by Sen. Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, the proposal was termed by Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, as "an insult to labor."

Hopes of Democrats and insurgent Republicans to dictate the entire tariff bill were heightened by the victory.

A move to prevent nullification of the coalition's victory over the administration in taking the flexible tariff powers away from the President [illegible] was [illegible] by Senator McKellar, Tennessee.

His proposal is that the Senate itself, instead of the Vice-President, designate the chamber's committees, when the time comes, to confer on differences in the measure with representatives of the House which voted to continue the flexible tariff policy favored by the President.

BOY SPEEDERS HELD FOR TRIAL

Charged with the larceny of Deputy Fire Chief Thomas H. Downey's automobile on the night of September 25 and the unlawful use of the machine, Frederick Brack, 17, of Miller st., Charlestown, was held in $3000 for the grand jury by Judge Brown in Charlestown District Court today.

Brack, with Nicholas Calia of Chapman st., and Cornelius Crowley of Sullivan st., both of Charlestown, was also charged with the larceny of the car owned by Patrick J. Fardy of Boston. Probable cause was found against all three. They were held in $3000 each for the grand jury.

A third boy, unnamed, who is now at the Shirley school, alleged to have been the driver of the Deputy fire chief's machine, will also face charges when the cases are brought before the grand jury.

$10,000 Loss in Fire at Milford; 5 Saved

Milford, N. H., Oct. 8.—Three buildings were swept by a fire which threatened the business section of this town. The fire started in a poolroom owned by Joseph Abiel.

Abiel, his wife and three children, who lived upstairs, narrowly escaped being trapped by the flames.

Help was called from Nashua. The loss was estimated at more than $10,000.

VANITIES GIRL MAKES TIME

Hartford, Ct., Oct. 8 (AP)—Edith Wright, 20, who does specialty numbers in Earl Carroll's "Vanities," playing here, was arrested today after a police automobile chase through the heart of the city.

The young actress is charged with passing an automatic traffic signal, her husband, Sidney Kross of New Haven, a publicity director of the company that manufactures the device, with operating an automobile without a license, failing to have her car properly registered, with evading responsibility and with having a loaded revolver in her possession.

She was released after she had left $100 in cash and her automobile as bail.

White House Dinner a Notable Event

By PEARL GROSS
Universal Service

Washington, Oct. 8.—The historic porticoes of the White House formed the picturesque frame for one of the most memorable functions in American history when the President of the United States and Mrs. Hoover entertained the Prime Minister of Great Britain, James Ramsay MacDonald, and his ruddy-cheeked daughter, Ishbel.

It was a state dinner, yet with all the graciousness and spontaneity of a simple-hearted parental function. Mrs. Hoover with rare charm had invested the occasion with the warmth and friendliness of an entertainment of old friends.

The two chiefs of the mightiest states sat down together, surrounded by all that Washington holds of eminence and importance. The crystal and silver, the softness of an Indian summer night, the brilliancy of uniforms, the subtle and yet pervasive atmosphere of intimacy and cordiality served to make this dinner not only the climatic event of Prime Minister MacDonald's visit, but all the history of Anglo-American relations.

EAST ROOM RECEPTION

The President and Mrs. Hoover received their guests in the east room, chatting with each one as they arrived.

In giving out the official guest list the White House did not make known the seating arrangements and the order of diplomatic precedence. President and Mrs. Hoover announced that they would seat their own guests. It was known, however, that those who occupied the honor seats at the head of the horseshoe-shaped table with the President and the First Lady of the Land were Miss Ishbel, the British Prime Minister; Vice-President Curtis and his sister, Mrs. Edward Everett (Dolly) Gann; Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador, and Lady Isabella Howard; and Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson and Mrs. Stimson.

In the midst of the gorgeously-gowned ladies sat Miss Ishbel, winsome, rosy-cheeked Scotch lassie—who reigned as the youngest of the guests at this state dinner. She was dressed in a simple silk frock, looking demure and girlish in comparison with the pomp and dignity of the occasion.

ISHBEL HAPPY

She was frankly happy, flushed with enthusiasm over the success of her hopes for world peace and the realization that she and her famous father had brought to fruition their most idealistic dream—the calling of a five-power naval limitation conference.

The United States Marine Band furnished the music.

Mrs. Hoover wore a periwinkle blue velvet gown with an extremely long train and gray shoes and stockings.

Ishbel did not wear a train, preferring a white taffeta frock, devoid of any decoration except deep red roses worn on her right shoulder. The flaming blossoms set off her brown, sparkling eyes and curly, sandy hair, which was twined into coils over her ears.

Mrs. "Dolly" Gann wore a silver lace gown with a very long train. She wore her favorite diamond and jade pendant and had on long white kid gloves.

Mrs. Stimson was clad in white and silver brocade, while Mrs. William E. Borah, wife of the chairman of the Senate foreign affairs committee, chose a black transparent velvet gown with shoulder straps of onyx and rhinestones, a necklace of pearls, and long ivory colored gloves.

Lady Isabella Howard's gown was of gold and orange satin. It was a princess model with diagonal drapes across the front and back of the skirt. She wore a diamond tiara.

All of the women present carried the long trains draped over one arm. Several affected no flowers, which would clash with their flashing jewels and stunning tiaras. Metallic cloth gowns vied with velvets and lace as the most important costumes.

MRS. BUDLONG IN NEW FIGHT

Providence, Oct. 8.—A plea for leopening the long and bitterly contested Budlong divorce case was before the Rhode Island Supreme Court today.

Mrs. Jessie Margaret Budlong, loser in the original suit, now asks that the decree granted her husband, Milton J. Budlong in June, 1928, be set aside. She bases her petition on a diary, kept by her husband, which, she says, contradicts testimony Budlong gave in the divorce trial.

Appearing as her own counsel before Supreme Court Justice Barrows, Mrs. Budlong said the diary would prove her husband was in company with other women under compromising circumstance.

Abbott Phillips, counsel for Budlong, said the court his client kept the diary by his advice to protect himself from "framed" charges. Mrs. Budlong's plea, said Attorney Phillips, is just one more move to make trouble for a man who has already been harrassed by six years of litigation.

The court took the petition under advisement.

Berlin Mayor in U. S.

San Francisco, Oct. 8 (INS)—Mayor Gustav Boss of Berlin, Germany arrived today.

Seeks to Annul Divorce

Mrs. Jessie Margaret Budlong, acting as her own counsel, petitions Rhode Island Supreme Court to set aside divorce decree granted her husband, Milton J. Budlong, in June, 1928. She cites his diary as contradicting his testimony against her and as placing him in compromising situations with other women.

CANADIANS ARE SURE CAVEMAN WILL TRIUMPH

But Woodsmen Agree He Will Have Hard Time Unless He Can Start Fire

Normandin, Que., Oct. 8.—Although no word has been received here for several days from Burt McConnell, who is making his experiment in the wilderness alone there to perfect one among the settlers here that he will triumph over his environment.

The town, which is entirely on McConnell's side in his remarkable cause man endeavor, found plenty of humor, nevertheless, in the few scattered notes he has sent out, since he began the experiment two weeks ago.

These notes of necessity must be few and far between. Chief Inspector Andrew McKibben is making only one trip a week to a designated spot where he picks up the typewritten manuscript of McConnell and brings them back to civilization.

MADE HIM TAKE AXE

McKibben, incidentally, explained his part in requiring McConnell to take an axe with him into the wilderness. He said that he at first pleaded with McConnell to take the axe.

The adventurer, however, refused. He insisted that to take the axe would be in violation of his intention to make his own axe with the flint and wood he found in the woods.

Even when McKibben pointed out to him that there is no flint in the place, McConnell was adamant. Finally the chief inspector stopped pleading and ordered the woodsman to take the axe.

SOME JOB TO KEEP WARM.

But all the axes in the world would make it difficult for a man to do much in the country north of here on the Washimeska river, without other implements and weapons.

Even the most hardened foresters here agree that he will have a hard time keeping warm unless he has fire. This task is probable—he has succeeded in making a fire for himself by rubbing sticks together.

The diary, kept by McConnell to chop down trees, providing timber for his rude shack, a log cabin shack already has been constructed.

But the natives up this way are anxious to learn the interest to learn if he has made weapons, such as a bow and arrow and whether he has caught game.

New York, Oct. 8.—Mrs. Burt McConnell, wife of the scientist, editor and explorer, now in the Quebec wilderness, expressed optimism in the outcome of her husband's experiment. She was not worried over the fact that no definite word has been received of his experiments after two weeks in the wilderness alone.

Burt knows how to take care of himself, she said. I have all the confidence in the world in his ability to make his way, living alone and unaided in the wilderness.

"For one thing he is not afraid of facing hunger any length of time. He once fasted ten days and still was going strong. He could do it again—but I'm quite sure it will not be necessary for him to go without food."

No Cash for Pool Winner; 4 Arrested

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 8 (INS)—Dist. Atty. Clarence Unckless of Onondaga county today declared he would move to indict the alleged operators of the Albany baseball pool whose names, he said, are known to the police. Agents in five cities up-state have been arrested.

Action was taken when William Kirkpatrick of Syracuse complained he had been refused payment of a $15,000 prize.

Glacial Boulder to Be Dedicated

Lawrence, Kan., Oct. 5.—A 23-ton glacial boulder, believed to be more than 400,000 years old, will be dedicated to old settlers at the town's diamond celebration October 11.

A railroad wrecking crane was used to bring the rock to Lawrence. Dr. R. C. Moore, head of the University of Kansas, geology department, says nature brought the rock from Nebraska or South Dakota in some glacial period.

DEPOSITION OF FALL MAY COME OUT IN TRIAL

Washington, Oct. 8 (AP)—A possibility that the deposition given by Albert B. Fall in the Sinclair conspiracy case, but never put into court records, might be made public during the current Fall trial for bribery was seen today when W. R. Hull, United States commissioner of El Paso, appeared at the trial as a government witness.

Hull took the deposition at his department at El Paso a year and a half ago when Attorney Harry F. Sinclair insisted Fall's testimony was essential to Sinclair's defense.

Fall's health at that time would not permit him to come to Washington to testify.

At today's session Fall appeared stronger than yesterday and for a time stood at the door smiling before taking his seat.

CHARGE $100,000 BRIBE

Owen J. Roberts, special government counsel, commenced the opening statement as soon as the court reconvened at 10:33. He went into details of the Naval Oil Reserve No. 1 at Elk Hills, Cal., and the transactions which the government charges Fall then secretary of the Interior, accepted a bribe of $100,000 from Edward L. Doheny, seeking the oil operator for renewal of his oil lease.

Among the witnesses who probably would be summoned, Roberts said, are certain of the Sinclair employees who is a government witness.

Roberts said the Government would show that the $100,000 was sent with the intent to influence Fall's action on the lease. In the prosecution's case, the Government would prove that at the time the Doheny negotiations were going on similar dealings were under way between Fall and Harry F. Sinclair, oil operator, in obtaining the lease to the Sinclair pool. It was made by Frank Hogan of defense counsel. Objection was overruled.

TELLS OF FALL'S DREAM

Hogan in opening his statement said Government counsel "has no basis for the bribery charge against Fall."

After recounting the friendship of Fall and Doheny which began when they were young men in the West, Hogan outlined the incident which he said led up to the $100,000 loan. "The two met here, he said, and Fall suggested a dream" of acquiring the Harris ranch, near Tucson, New Mexico.

Doheny, he said, was sure, without a word from Fall, offered to lend him the money he needed to carry out the dream. Fall declined the offer at the time he asserted saying he could get the money elsewhere.

WANTED IT IN CASH

Fall, continued Hogan, received $100,000 in checks from Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post, but something that McLean and indeed Fall to believe the loan would be a hardship to the publishers and so telephoned Doheny asking for the loan in cash as he was leaving for New Mexico the next day and believed he could get better terms if he had cash.

The next day, he added, Doheny's son brought the cash to Fall in Washington. From here November 20, 1921, and receiving Falls note for the money.

Doheny bowed his head at mention of his son, who was killed in Los Angeles with his secretary several months ago.

Williams Estate Left to His Sons

New Bedford, Oct. 8.—The will of William F. Williams of New Bedford, former state commissioner of public works, filed in Taunton Probate Court today, puts his estate in his two sons, Harold W. Williams of Lawrence, N. Y., and Thomas Williams of New Bedford.

The two sons are also executors, but are exempt from surety and no estimate of the estate is given. The will, dated February 10, 1927, was executed February 15, 1927.

Robbed of Gems, Cash by Bandits

Stamford, Conn., Oct. 8 (NSS)—Articles of jewelry, diamonds and cash valued at $1,000 were taken from the home of Mrs. Mary Hurlbut here and Evergreen.

Mrs. Hurlbut, whose diamond ring and a gold wrist watch were among the things obtained by the bandits, was away at the time.

WHAT MAN SAW IN PANTAGES' OFFICE

Los Angeles, Oct. 8 (NSS)—The second of three eye-witnesses produced by the state to bear out Eugene Pringle's story of an alleged attack by Alexander Pantages, wealthy theater man, in a room today of how he went running to the theater lobby in response to the screaming girl.

William L. Gordon, proprietor of a women's apparel shop on the ground floor of the theater building, was eye-witness No. 2.

He testified he came from a lower floor. "I ran down the stairs to the mezzanine landing, there I saw a girl coming down the stairs, slightly stooped over of the little room," said Gordon.

"What was the door open. As I did I saw a man stand on the girl's ankle. I pushed the door further open and came in the room.

"I then saw a man inside on the floor. He was on his knees. That was Alexander Pantages."

"What was Eunice Pringle saying?"

"She was screaming 'Help! Help! He is hurting me.'"

"What was Pantages saying?"

"He was saying 'Hush, close the door. Keep quiet.'"

For three hours Eunice herself answered a continuous barrage of questions shot at her by Jerry Geisler, defense attorney. She appeared in the opinion ensemble she wore when she went to the prosecutor's room the afternoon of August 9 to seek a booking with Pantages vaudeville circuit.

Attorney Geisler forced her to admit that she had attended several parties with Nick Dunray, Russian playwright. She had never been alone with him, she testified.

U. S. PATROL BOAT SUNK

New London, Conn., Oct. 8 (AP)—The coast guard picket boat CG212 sank at the State Pier here today as she was being beached, her hold full of water, in consequence of a collision with the patrol boat CG250.

In the collision which occurred last night outside the harbor the CG250 bow struck a hole five feet long in the CG212 starboard side just abaft of midships, it was said, damaged the CG212 electric switch box, causing the picket boat to be put on darkened ship. Despite the collision and subsequent darkness, below, the five men aboard secured the CG212 and brought her safely to the pier. Three were thrown off their feet but escaped injury.

With the five men on the patrol boat, the CG250 took the CG212 in tow and brought her into the harbor. Then she rammed and grounded. Personal belongings of the crew were lost.

Capt. H. H. Wolf, commander of the Coast Guard destroyer base and of the section base here, was ordered an inquiry. Meantime efforts are being made to pump the water out of the CG212, and temporary patch to avoid further damage.

Empire Nets Millions on King George

London, Oct. 8.—King George and Queen Mary receive a joint salary of $450,000 a year for being ruling sovereigns of one of the world's greatest kingdoms.

That they are paid on a regular wage basis by Parliament is not generally known, but it happens to be so, and what is more, this personal salary does not come from the taxpayers' pockets but from the income derived from the ancient private estates of England's former monarchs, the crown lands.

However, the personal salary does not include expenses, which are also paid by Parliament and amount to no less than $1,800,000 a year.

Even at this the country is supposed to make money out of the sovereigns, for, when both salary and expense are deducted, there is still a balance of $3,700,000 left over from the income upon the crown lands.

Here is how the local patriots figure that the monarchy is not a burden to the taxpayers.

When William of Normandy conquered England he took into his personal possession every square inch of land. This was the legal origin of what are known as the Crown lands.

These had a long and checkered history. Thrifty sovereigns added to them, but for the most part kings and queens of England gave them away recklessly to courtiers and subjects.

Some political events added to the Crown lands, such as forfeitures after rebellions. Also, if a subject died heirless his land escheated to the crown.

The Crown lands are bringing into the Exchequer net profits totalling over $8,000,000 a year. Thus as the civil list totals only $2,390,000, the nation makes $2,700,000 out of the king and queen, and gets their services free into the bargain.

Edison Genius, Hoover Thinker, Says Abbe

New York, Oct. 8 (INS)—President Hoover is a great thinker, Thomas Edison is America's greatest genius.

These were observations today of Father Ernest Dimnet, French cleric, who has achieved international eminence through the publication of his work, "The Art of Thinking."

America's outstanding thinkers Father Dimnet said, might be ranked in the following order: William James, first; George Santayana, second; Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, third.

President Hoover, he said, "is a great thinker within the limits he has set for himself." H. L. Mencken thinks all the time and in a fresh and stimulating manner, but never at a very great altitude."

The abbe, who has just arrived in America to give a series of lectures, will remain in New York for a brief period as the guest of Robert J. Cuddihy, owner of the Literary Digest.

He will lecture at the University of California, Leland Stanford, Columbia and the Metropolitan Museum, returning to Europe at the end of the year.

Father Dimnet, who says America interests him more than any other country, is opposed to a university training for Americans.

He said too much energy goes into sports and that much dormant genius has been stifled in the schools.

The prevailing belief that the French mind is more emotional and romantic than the American was dispelled by Father Dimnet.

"Even in an American business man," he said, "you are more likely to find the kernel of a poet in his soul than in the average Frenchman."

2 HATS IN RING TO CAPTURE WORLD BANK

Baden Baden, Ger., Oct. 8 (AP)—Two of the seven countries participating in the conference on the bank for international settlements have thrown their hats into the ring for taking the bank to their respective capitals.

Philip Snowden, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced at the recent Hague conference that the British government sought to have the bank in London, and the British delegation here is understood to have supported this view in private conversations.

Efforts to take the bank to Brussels also are being made, but in view of objections against placing it in any creditor country, the chances for either Brussels or London seem doubtful. Switzerland and Holland, as neutral countries, view in private conversations.

The arrival of Ivan Ruth, director of the Swedish State Bank, started rumors that he was bidding for Stockholm, but he denied it.

So far as can be determined, the smaller European countries consider the bank a good thing to fight for, as they regard it as a sort of peace insurance and a guarantor for the stability of their currency.

It is understood the German delegation hopes Berlin will not be suggested in a case of a deadlock, for although favoring the widest possible activities for the new bank, they do not believe it should be domiciled in Germany, fearing that German public opinion would regard the bank as a foreign control measure perpetuating supervision of her economic affairs.

2 New Workers for Health Association

The Southern Middlesex Health Association, Inc., announced the employment today of two new workers. Miss Evelyn Blackburn and Miss May Morrison, both graduates of the Boston School of Physical Education. The increase in the staff is due to the expansion of the association's work. Miss Blackburn will make home visits to all camp children and arrange clinics for the re-examination of former campers. Miss Morrison will co-operate with principals and school teachers in teaching health in schools.

WALKER CLAIMS HE NEVER GOT GRAFT CASH

New York, Oct. 8 (AP)—Mayor James J. Walker today gave a negative answer to an inquiry by Richard E. Enright, mayoralty candidate of the Square Deal party, as to whether the mayor had borrowed $2000 from the proprietor of the Central Park Casino in the middle of the night.

Enright, who was police commissioner under Mayor Hylan, made his inquiry concerning the loan while criticizing Walker for leasing the Casino for $4000 a year to Sidney Solomon to be conducted as a high-priced restaurant and dance resort.

"I would like to ask if he borrowed $2000 from the proprietor of this place in the middle of the night a few weeks or a month ago and $800 it sent over to the Ritz-Carlton, where he was holding a prayer meeting," Enright said. He explained that by "prayer meeting" he meant a crap game.

Mayor Walker said:

"I never asked for, borrowed or received $2000 or any other sum from Sidney Solomon or any other person connected with the Casino restaurant enterprise."

Solomon also denied the transaction.

Enright in his statement named Jack Cohen as the night treasurer from whom Solomon obtained the money to send to Mayor Walker.

Solomon said Cohen had never been night treasurer, but at one time was a private detective at the Casino.

Mayor Walker challenged Enright to reword his charge from a question to a direct statement, saying if it was phrased so as to be actionable he would go before a grand jury and ask an indictment.

Enright also charged that police and detectives in Brooklyn rode liquor trucks operated by a gangster known as "Little Augie," who was a local representative of Al Capone.

WHO'S WHO AND WHY STILL GOES ON AT CAPITAL

Washington, Oct. 8 (AP)—The official announcement affirming reports of Washington will have final formal confirmation or denial tomorrow as a result of the White House dinner in honor of Prime Minister MacDonald.

The big question now should at once be about which nail keeps supporting the capital for most interests to be so persistent as over the day after that first state dinner of the Hoover administration.

The reason viewed from the perspective of years was more political than social, that the rules of precedence having come into conflict with the rules of simple courtesy. President and Mrs. Hoover and the striking guests adopted the latter as the guide.

PRESIDENT AT HEAD

President Hoover is at the head of the table, was flanked on the right by Lady Isabella and on the left by Premier MacDonald, with Mrs. Hoover on the left of the latter and Mrs. Dawes on the right of the President's left, was Mrs. Daisy Curtiss Gann, sister and official hostess of Vice President Curtis.

RIGHTS WAIVED

That arrangement was modified also the questionable matter of rights of precedence, since Mr. MacDonald, as the guest of honor, by ceremonial custom, ranked all living Americans. For instance, the Chief Justice of the supreme ranking official and Mrs. Hughes, in Arlington, ordinarily would have to be seated at Mrs. Hoover's left.

Lady Isabella, along with her husband, waived her rank, and Vice President Curtis, even before announcing the seating plan, had let it be known that he would not insist on his rights. Mrs. Curtis, although officially hostess for the occasion, is a Washington society matron and not a public official.

Lady Isabella, who is the wife of the British premier, is a Washington society matron and not a public official.

CHICAGO OPENS WAR ON BOMB GANGSTERS

Chicago, Oct. 8 (AP)—Terrorists increased their 1929 bombings to 91 and jarred a threat from high police officials and Frank J. Loesch, assistant state's attorney, that the prolonged campaign of fear day is about to end.

Police were incensed when a H. McGrady, official of a brokerage firm, whose apartment recently was bombed, refused to open the company's books for inspection officials sought to learn who her any known gangsters had had re cent dealings with the concern, believing the McGrady bombing might have been in reprisal for losses in the stock market.

The 90th bomb was placed on the front porch of the first floor apartment of a building which contains on the southwest side of the city. A private watchman saw the intruder and gave chase in an automobile and fired five shots at him. John Wilczynski, watchman, said others of the bombers.

"Our police resented this intrusion," Loesch, who is a member of President Hoover's law enforcement commission, immediately after his initial conference ordered police to question all bombing victims and gangsters and given to take them before the grand jury.

"Our organization, consisting of police, assisted by citizens, will make immediate steps to form bombing squads in each of the city's districts, with police stations in place of the squad of city men now attached to the detective bureau."

Chicago 'Racketeers' Fleece Grape Buyers

Washington, Oct. 8 (AP)—A new racket has appeared in Chicago, whereby shipments of grape juice and grape products are obtained at less than their actual value.

This is how the game is worked, as explained by Prohibition Commissioner Doran:

The racketeers go to the railroad yards and make a check of shipments of grape juice and grape products to obtain the names of the persons to whom they are consigned.

Then they represent themselves as prohibition agents and intimidate the consignees, telling them with the result that the shipments of beverages are not called for.

The apparent purpose of the racket, the prohibition commissioner said, is to frighten off competitors so the racketeers can sell the beverages in at their own prices.

Chicago is the only city from which such reports of fraud, which have involved hundreds of carloads, have been received.

Detroit Votes for 2 Mayoral Nominees

Detroit, Oct. 8 (AP)—A three-cornered contest for two nominations for municipal candidates is a non-partisan ticket furnishes what little interest has been aroused today's general city primary election. Out of a total registration of 435,000, the most optimistic election officials predict a total vote of not more than 135,000.

Mayor John C. Lodge is opposed for renomination by former Mayor John W. Smith and Charles Bowles, who stood a somewhat unusual position in the race for a short period to make the finishing race.

Coste Quits Tokio Hop; Will Fly Home

Tokio, Oct. 8 (AP)—The Japanese entrant of Toshiaki Mizuno, today rejected the foreign office today that the French aviator Capt. Dieudonne Coste, and his companion, Monsieur Jacques Rollin, had abandoned their plan to fly to Japan. Instead, it was said, they would return to France by way of Siberia, the Chinese coast and India.

Similar action a reconnoitering flight of 4,000 miles from France.

That Brutal Overseer Roasts in Hades!

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

Wise legislation has halted the ancient prejudice that dictated the exploitation of child labor for selfish gain. Guided by AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE it has routed greed. No longer are little children forced into slavery.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

TUNE IN—The Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra, every Saturday night, over a coast-to-coast network of the N. B. C.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

M'MANUS TRIAL TAKEN OUT OF N. Y. CAMPAIGN

New York, Oct. 8 (AP)—The trial of George A. McManus for the murder of Arnold Rothstein, Broadway gambler chief, was postponed today until November 11. It had been previously set for October 15. After a conference today with attorneys for the State and defense Judge Charles C. Nott, Jr., also announced that he would not preside at the trial as he had been scheduled to do.

The postponement puts the Rothstein trial over until after election instead of during the campaign, into which it was injected as one of the principal issues by anti-Tammany forces.

CAMPAIGN CHANGES.

The trial was scheduled for a pre-election date as the direct result of campaign charges that McManus had never been brought to trial because such a proceeding might bring out facts embarrassing to Tammany politicians and office holders.

Judge Nott was appointed to preside because he was a Republican, and Dist. Atty. John Harlan appointed a Republican assistant to prosecute the trial, so that there could be no charge that Tammany officials had "hushed up" the proceedings.

In November Judge Morris Koenig is scheduled to preside in the court where McManus will be tried. He is a Republican, but was indorsed for election by both Democrats and Republicans.

JUDGE TAKES A HAND

In announcing that he would not preside at the trial, Judge Nott said that he had not been consulted about it by the district attorney and the first he knew of the case being assigned to him was when he read about it in the newspapers.

When the prosecutor and defense counsel called on him at his request today he told them that under no circumstances would he try the case before election. He said that both sides were ready to proceed and urged him to preside, but he decided on his own initiative to put the case over.

U. S. AUTOGIRO GIVEN TEST

Philadelphia, Oct. 8 (AP)—The first American built autogiro, manufactured by Pitcairn Aircraft, Inc., plant near here, has been put through its initial test flight and pronounced satisfactory, it was announced today.

In virual secrecy, the "windmill" plane, in which are incorporated new features, Senor Juan de la Cierva, Spanish inventor of the plane, took the ship up on its first short flight. He expressed satisfaction with its performance.

The autogiro is sustained in flight by a revolving horizontal rotor or set of four vanes. The American-made autogiro has a new shape landing gear which lets the plane down with utmost ease, the manufacturers claim.

The plane will be put through a series of tests to prove advantages of the newly incorporated features, after which the company plans to turn out two a week in a new factory.

Stillman Safe on Alaska Trip

Anchorage, Alaska, Oct. 8—James A. Stillman, New York banker, reported missing on a hunting trip, is due to arrive here today by boat, Pilot Joe Crosson said upon his return from a flight up the Skwentna river where he landed and visited Stillman. The banker had been delayed in his trip down the river.

YD Veteran Dies

Clinton, Oct. 8—After 11 years of courageous battling against illness induced by war wounds and poison gas, John T. Maroney, Yankee Division veteran, was dead today at his home on Greeley st. He was 35 years old.

how to clear a dangerous* COLD!

WHAT starts as a sniffle or head cold often develops into sinus or "middle ear" infection, sinusitis, abscess, grippe, pneumonia, pleurisy, chronic catarrh, etc.

Even if you are too busy to "stay home and take care" of the cold—take no chances. A little OZO MIST sprayed in your handkerchief and breathed deep into the lungs will destroy the germs in nose and throat that are fighting your health.

OZO MIST is a marvelous, new vaporizing liquid. It produces a pleasing pine-woodsy, germicidal vapor that you inhale. Five healing medicaments are deposited in nose, throat and lungs. Quickly the cold germs are destroyed. Instantly you feel relief. The air passages are cleared. You breathe easier. Irritated membranes of nose and throat are soothed. Stopping and coughing is relieved. Soon you find your cold has dried up. You're breathed it away!

Ask for OZO MIST at your local druggists. Fifty cents the bottle. Get the original OZO MIST—use it tonight.

Mistrial Ordered in Poultry Dealers' Case

New York, Oct. 8 (AP)—A mistrial was declared today in the case of more than 80 poultry dealers accused of violating the Sherman anti-trust law by monopolizing the live poultry industry in the metropolitan area, but a new trial was immediately started on agreement by both sides.

The mistrial was declared by Federal Judge John C. Knox when it was found that a juror was a friend and fellow member of Benjamin Stinson, one of the jury defendants.

French and Polish Honor Gen. Pulaski

Washington, Oct. 8 (INS)—A series of commemorative observances of the career of Gen. Casimir Pulaski, the Polish general who rendered such notable aid to Gen. Washington in the Revolution, started today.

The Polish minister, Tytus Filipowicz, accompanied by Commander Sable, French naval attache and officials of the Polish legation, left Washington today by airplane for Savannah, Ga., where tomorrow they will participate in exercises observing the 150th anniversary of the fatal wounding of Pulaski here during the siege of Savannah.

English Actors to Organize "Equity"

London, Oct. 8 (AP)—Hundreds of British actors and actresses from highest paid stars to least important back row hoofers today adopted a resolution in favor of the powerful actors' organization for England, based on the principles of the American Actors Equity Association.

After a speech by John Emerson, president of Equity, who described how his organization protected actors in America, the crowd cheered lustily.

Albee's Gifts to N. Y. Cathedral $400,000

New York, Oct. 8 (INS)—The fund for completion of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine here was richer by $400,000 today. E. F. Albee, theatrical magnate, who previously had contributed $200,000 to the fund, handed a second check to Bishop William T. Manning.

Students in Naples

Naples, Oct. 8 (AP)—Students of the Mare Merchant school, North Amherst, Mass., arrived here today for a visit. The students will make a tour of the city during the visit and have tea this afternoon at the Palm American Union.

Lowell Firm Wins $15,137 Cut in Taxes

An abatement of taxes to the extent of $15,137 to Hamilton Manufacturing Company of Lowell was today ordered by James J. Rolan of Lowell, who served as commissioner to hear the facts when the company petitioned for abatement. The order was filed in Suffolk Superior Court today. Commissioner Rolan ruled that the Lowell assessors valued the company's property at twice the amount they should have. The company went into the hands of a receiver three years ago and petitioned for abatement of taxes the year following.

Mother of Four Sent to Sherborn

Brockton, Oct. 8—As a result of a raid Sunday night at the Court Inn, home of Mrs. Jean Cannon, her family was broken up by the court today.

Mrs. Cannon was sentenced to Sherborn for neglect of minor children; her 13-year-old daughter, Muriel C., was adjudged delinquent and committed to Lancaster school, and the younger children, Phyllis, Marie and Richard were placed in State care. The raid was made by police Capt. Hall and two officers.

Harold L. Richards, 18, of Eliot st., was held for the grand jury.

ATTRACTIVE PRIZES

Added to those already entered, these names make a total of over five hundred Greater Boston girls and women who are seeking the title of Miss Majestic and the rich prizes that go with the title.

A trip to far away Bermuda with a companion of her own choice, a fairyland vacation arranged by the Allen Tours of Boston, in which is promised every delight of the island beauty spot. The thrill of wearing and owning a complete sports ensemble from the Barbara Stone Shops. And the delight of a model 181 Majestic Radio and Phonograph combination in her home. These three things await Miss Majestic.

Less fortunate, but still to be envied, are the winners of the other prizes. A model 82 Majestic Radio and a complete sports ensemble await second prize winner.

Third Prize is to be a model 91 Majestic Radio and a gem studded, white gold, Elgin wrist watch. Many other valuable prizes have been announced and others are to be added before the contest is brought to a close.

ALL MAY VOTE

It's a battle of ballots now—an election with a properly selfish end in view—and a worthy purpose too. An election to win for yourself or a friend a prize so fine, that it hardly seems possible.

Every one can vote. Those who are entered can vote for themselves. Their friends can vote for them, and are sure to do so. A ballot has vote value for any contestant whose name is filled in upon it.

Votes and vote value are to tell the story. Miss Majestic will win her title and enjoy her prizes for just one reason—that she gets more votes than any other contestant. Beauty and skill do not mean a thing in this contest. Majestic Radio's makers seek Boston's most popular girl—and they will find her through the ballot box.

VOTE COUPONS AT SHOW

Eight ways have been provided to get votes. Registration coupons for 300 votes are being given to each contestant who visits the Majestic exhibit at the Radio show. Newspaper coupons worth 50 votes each are to be published in the Boston American. Coupons worth 10,000 to 15,000 votes each are being distributed by Majestic dealers.

John Ambrose Majestic Mystery Maid Alice Korites

Fulfilling her promise to meet contestants in the Miss Majestic Popularity Contest at the Radio Exposition, the Majestic Mystery Maid appeared at the Grigsby-Grunow exhibit and greeted many of the candidates. She is shown here with Alice Korites, of Roslindale, who is depositing a courtesy ballot in the contest ballot box. With the Mystery Maid is also John Ambrose, territorial supervisor for Majestic Radio.

All purchasers of tickets at the Modern Reason to Close Parties in Boston, or the East Boston Salle or Central Square, the Dorchester, Liberty or Mattapan Rivoli, Dudley, Shawmut or Waterman in Roxbury, the Jamaica or Jamaica Plain, the Rialto in Roslindale, the Regent in North Downs or the Embassy in Waltham, are being given vote coupons good for 300 votes each.

Ballot boxes are located in the lobbies of all of these playhouses for the reception of ballots.

STANDINGS TOMORROW

Clarkson, Welch & Co., the certified public accountants who are in charge of the collection, counting and tabulation of votes, announce that a second list of contest standings will be available for publication tomorrow.

Many changes have taken place in the standings since the first list was published. Leaders have dropped down the list. Obscure names from far below the leaders have leaped toward the top.

Never has it been more completely demonstrated that "uneasy lies the head that wears a crown." Many a feminine brow that was all prepared a week ago to bear the Miss Majestic crown is now lost momentarily at least, in the crowd surging toward the throne.

As her finger hovers over the calendar to choose the date when the quest shall end, the Majestic Mystery Maid says to all who are interested in the contest: "Work, work hard and do not delay. Time is so short—you must be alert and busy.

"Work for yourself if you are in the contest. Work for a friend if your own name is not in. How better could you be a friend than to help a friend to win. So many, so very charming ladies are in this contest. I wish you all could win. But so many people must want to help you. Why don't you ask them to? I know they will."

The Mystery Maid today ended part of the mystery about herself when she revealed that she is truly of Castilian blood, and that the odd but altogether charming accent noted by those to whom she has talked at various dealers' stores is due to early childhood in Spain and to education in the Spanish colonies. Her acquaintance with English is relatively recent, and at times more than amusing.

She has been visiting shops of co-operating dealers for the past week and will continue to do so during the rest of the contest.

Her program for the present week is divided between the radio show and the dealers' shops. Visitors to the show, however, are sure to see her each afternoon and evening at the Majestic exhibit.

Two More Trolleys Bombed in Strike

New Orleans, La., Oct. 8 (AP)—With no more to work with in the way of a car than in other previous similar cases since the car strike started, police and federal marshals today were investigating the bombing of two more street cars.

The cars were bombed within five minutes of each other, in different neighborhoods in the lower section of the city.

Nearly two feet of rail was torn up when a car rolled over a quantity of explosive in Alvar st. The car windows were smashed but none of the six passengers was hurt. A Gentilly car was damaged by explosive placed between the rails.

JEANNE EAGELS' GEMS WORTH ONLY $7950

New York, Oct. 8 (INS)—The $250,000 worth of gems worn by Jeanne Eagels when the beautiful stage and screen star died suddenly Thursday night in Park Ave. Hospital turned out to be mostly rhinestones.

Official appraisal by Thomas J. Hogan, property clerk at police headquarters, revealed today the Eagels gems to be worth only about $7950.

The pearl ring, which friends of the temperamental star actress believed to be worth "$250,000 to $500,000" was appraised at only $3000.

Miss Eagels' celebrated pearl necklace, believed to be priceless, suffered sharp depreciation. Its 110 pearls are paste. Appraiser Hogan said, after the ruby-studded platinum clasp. He rated their total value at only $300.

The most valuable piece of the Eagels jewelry proved to be her six-karat diamond ring, set with eight tiny stones, appraised at $4000. A white gold wedding ring, set with 24 diamond chips, was listed at $100.

Funeral Service for Actress Today

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 8 (AP)—As City paid homage to Jeanne Eagels, the girl who was the best actress this city ever sent to the stage.

She lay at rest in the McGeehee funeral chapel at Linwood boulevard and Euclid ave. while persons crowded past her bier in a slowly stream all day.

Standing straight, tall and quiet, a handsome, hour upon hour, in the front was George Eagels, Jeannie's 26-year-old brother, looking almost in bewilderment at the persons as they filed in and out. On occasional all too infrequent sight of a familiar face bringing a rare smile across his countenance.

"I hope all those people are friends," he said almost pitifully. "They must all be friends. I'd hate to think any one was here just out of curiosity."

Funeral services for Miss Eagels were held today at St. Vincent de Paul Church.

Shoots Two Burglars and Captures Third

New York, Oct. 8 (AP)—A Brooklyn policeman, Thelsey Feldstein, caught three youthful burglars early today after a battle in which he shot two of them. One perhaps mortally.

He trailed them to a store in Saratoga ave., which two of them entered, leaving a lookout outside. Feldstein surprised the sentry, Victor Berlin, 16, and turned him over to a special officer. He crawled up the airshaft just as the pair were tearing off an iron bar to a window. His shots felled both Harry Becker, 17, will probably die.

MILL TO EJECT 92 FAMILIES IN STRIKE

Marion, N. C., Oct. 8—Eviction of 92 families, of more than 450 persons, by the Marion Manufacturing Company and the Clinchfield Manufacturing Company because of the strike of textile employes is planned, it was learned today.

Officials of the company said ejectment papers would not be served until the inquiry to fix responsibility for the clash at the Marion manufacturing plant is completed. The inquiry, conducted by Judge Harding, is delving into the strike riot which claimed the lives of five persons and caused the wounding of 17.

Mill officials propose to eject from their homes all striking employes.

Murder charges against three sheriff's deputies growing out of the killing of the five strikers in the riot were dismissed today after the state's attorney announced he accepted a nonsuit in their cases.

FARM LOSS PUT ON BOARD

Washington, Oct. 8 (AP)—In a letter defining the position of the Farm Board on crop stabilization today, Chairman Legge said stabilization should be divided into two classes, that conducted by co-operatives under ordinary conditions and that conducted by the board under extraordinary circumstances.

The letter, written to Chairman McNary of the Senate agriculture committee, continued that in an emergency the government would stand loss.

Legge said the letter was written because a reading of the testimony before the committee last week disclosed the subject of stabilization was not very clearly expressed by board members.

He declared his communication would be accepted as the position of the board as a whole.

Court Held in Street to Jail Bank Thief

Providence, Oct. 8—Holding a special outdoor session of court on Benefit st. today beside an ambulance in which the defendant lay helpless, Judge A. A. Capotosto committed to the Providence county jail Hormisdas J. Mylette, alleged Woonsocket bank defaulter.

Mylette was to be tried today on charges of larceny from the Woonsocket Building & Loan Society. According to police, his defalcations from the society and from the Citizens' Savings bank of Woonsocket amounted to more than $185,000.

Appearing before Judge Capotosto in Providence Superior Court, Atty. Gen. Oscar I. Heitzen declared that Mylette had been brought here from Woonsocket home by ambulance, but was in so critical a condition, mentally and physically, that it seemed impractical to carry him into the court building, even on a stretcher.

The attorney general assured the judge that, by arrangement, Mylette would plead guilty and throw himself on the mercy of the court as soon as able.

"I shall commit this man to the jail with the understanding that the warden assign him to the hospital at once," Judge Capotosto announced.

FLIERS LEAVE SPRINGFIELD

New York, Oct. 8 (INS)—The first three planes participating in the National Air Tour landed at Roosevelt Field today, led by Capt. Frank M. Hawks, tour referee, in his Lockheed express cabin monoplane.

Landing with Capt. Hawks were Pilots Lee Schoenhair, operating a Lockheed Vega monoplane, and Lieut. Wendall Brookley, a Falcon.

Springfield, Oct. 8 (AP)—Miss Mae Haizlip, flying an American Eagle biplane, was the first to leave Springfield airport at 10:01 a. m. today for Newark, N. J., on the third lap of the National Air Tour.

One minute later, Miss Frances Harrell in her Moth biplane, left the ground and at similar intervals the remaining 33 planes of the fleet that arrived here late yesterday from Montreal and Portland, Me., took off.

4 hurry-up hot breads

These four breakfast hot breads are all easy to prepare—for they are all variations of one simple recipe.

But, before you make them, remember for muffins and other hot breads to taste really good, all the ingredients must taste good, too. If, for example, one is not particular about the shortening, whatever strong flavor there may be in the fat itself will quite spoil the real, delicate muffin taste.

How, then, to be sure? Simple: taste your shortening.

You taste milk. You test eggs. Now, taste Crisco—then any other shortening. Then you'll understand why Crisco's own sweet, fresh flavor so improves the taste of your muffins, biscuits, cakes, pies, cookies and fried foods.

Virginia Sally Lunn

¼ cup Crisco
½ cup sugar
2 eggs (beaten)
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder

Cream Crisco and sugar together. Add beaten eggs, and mix well. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt and add alternately with milk to the first mixture. Bake in a Crisco-ed shallow pan in hot oven (400° F.) 20 to 25 minutes.

Waffles

Follow the Sally Lunn recipe but separate the eggs, adding beaten yolks to batter and adding ¼ cup more milk. Just before baking add egg whites beaten stiff. (For crisper waffles simply cook longer.) This makes enough to serve 6 to 8 persons.

French Coffee Cake

Crisco's sweetness lets the full delicate flavor of this recipe assert itself. Make up Sally Lunn recipe. Divide batter into two round layer cake pans. Brush top lightly with melted Crisco, or dot with little pieces of Crisco. Mix together two tablespoons of sugar and one teaspoon of cinnamon, sprinkle over entire top, then scatter over this chopped nuts. Bake 15 to 20 minutes in hot oven (400° F.). Serves 6 to 8 persons.

Golden Muffins

Follow recipe for Sally Lunn. Fill muffin tins two-thirds full of batter. Bake about 15 minutes in a hot oven (400° F.). This makes 15 to 18 muffins.

These recipes have been tested and approved by cooking authorities. You will get best results by using level measurements and the ingredients specified.

CRISCO was used in the Cooking School conducted by this paper last week.

Mrs. Lilla Pauline Cross, in the American Cooking School, made a point of modern methods in cooking. Naturally, then, she used Crisco, the modern shortening. Not only is Crisco easy to use; in addition, it helps you secure, better, surer [illegible]

Miss Lydia Dunlop to Marry Robert P. Adams Nov. 2 In Brookline

A DEBUTANTE BRIDE is Miss Nancy Baldwin, who plights her troth this afternoon to Oscar Crosby Sewall in one of the prettiest weddings of the season. Miss Baldwin was scheduled to make her formal bow to society this winter. A Chantilly lace cap crowns the bride's golden hair and her youth and beauty are perfectly set off by a gown of antique ivory satin with a long train. Her bouquet is of gardenias and valley lilies. The bridal attendants are wearing charming dresses of phlox chiffon in the new mode, with long sleeves which are trimmed with irresistible little ruffles around the hand. Their hats are of felt and velvet in the same tone, with bows at the back. Miss Mary Ransome of Maplewood, N. J., and Edgartown, is serving as honor maid and Miss Marcia Webb of New York and Marion, as bridesmaid. Miss Baldwin is being given in marriage by her brother, James French Baldwin.

JOSEPH C MELLEN OF NEW YORK is acting as best man and the ushers are W. S. Powers of New York and Charleston MacVeagh of Northampton. The Rev. Laurens MacClure performs the ceremony. The Brae Burn Country Club is to be the scene of the reception immediately following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Sewall are going to the Fiji Islands and Australia on their wedding trip and from thence to England, where they make their home next summer.

INVITATIONS FOR THE WEDDING of Miss Lydia Dunlop and Robert P. Adams will go out this week for a ceremony to be solemnized in the Church of Our Saviour in Brookline on November 2. Miss Dunlop, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dunlop of Monmouth rd, Brookline, and Marblehead, is a member of the Junior League and the Sewing Circle. Her only attendant will be Miss Molly Adams, sister of the bridegroom. The reception will be held at The Country Club. Mr. Adams was a prominent football player at Brown, where he was a member of the class of '23. He belongs to the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. They are to make their home in Marblehead.

MISS KATHERINE DAVIS was elected chairman of the provisional members of the Junior League and Miss Mary Chase vice-chairman at the meeting of provisional members which took place at the League rooms. Miss Davis' duty will be to furnish debutantes to serve at charity events throughout the year. These officers are to attend the first Junior League board meeting of the season tomorrow.

APPARENTLY THERE IS NO end to this year's debutantes list. New names are added are Miss Molly Alperton, with Mrs. Alexander Whiteside, Miss Ellen Eastman and Miss Carolyn Wolfrick, with Mrs. Charles Frost Aldrich of Dublin, N. H. No dates for the presentations of these girls have yet been decided upon.

THEODORE HAVILAND, 2ND, the fiance of Miss Frances Meade of Beacon st, will arrive in France this week. His home is in Limoges. Mr. Haviland is a members of the family noted for the manufacture of fine china. His mother, Mrs. Theodore Haviland, was Miss Catherine Babcroft of Cambridge. He will return to Boston in May, when the wedding will take place.

MISS MARJORIE MORRILL is back in Dedham again and is working in her father's office, there to continue during the winter months, her secretarial studies as incidental to he enjoyed occasionally in the evening at the Longwood Cricket Club's coverdrives. Another girl working for her father is Miss Betty Keyes of Brookline a debutante of several seasons ago. Miss Hester Codman, who has been summering at Manchester, is planning to be with an investment house this winter. Several others seem to be interested in department store life. Miss Nancy Morrison is one of these, having signed last winter with one of New York's most prominent houses. She has been asked to take a position this winter with one of our best known shops. On the other hand, Miss Dolores Dedons de Pierrefeu is about to start her career as a business woman in the big metropolis at one of its largest stores. She is taking an apartment with her sister, Miss Leonora Dedons de Pierrefeu, who is to attend an art school. Apparently Boston society girls are joining the ranks of the business woman in increasingly large numbers.

MR. AND MRS. ELERIDGE GERRY GREENE (Ruth Thayer) are sailing from England for the United States about November 1, and are expected here for a visit with Mrs. Greene's mother, Mrs. Bayard Thayer of Boston and Lancaster. The latter, while traveling on an extended trip abroad, motored with Mrs. Robert Bacon of New York from Paris to Vienna to visit the Greenes, where Mr. Greene was first secretary in the Vienna Legation. He has been on state business in Helsingfors, Finland, and before the holidays, accompanied by Mrs. Greene, he will leave for his new post as first secretary to the embassy at Buenos Aires. Mrs. Thayer is to have her youngest daughter, Mrs. Bickard of Boston, Jr., and Mr. Storey make her at her town residence this winter.

B. T. A. Executives Elect T. F. Anderson

Thomas F. Anderson was elected president of the Boston Trade Association Executives at the annual meeting and election of officers for 1930.

Other officers chosen were Lawrence Powers of the New England Building Supply Association, vice president, and F. X. Bastrup of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, secretary-treasurer.

WIVES TOLD OF LEGAL RIGHTS

Married women today have much to be thankful for—besides their husbands.

They have many reasons to offer prayers of gratitude, Mrs. Emma Fill Schofield, assistant attorney-general for Massachusetts told the members of the Brookline Women's Club at their opening meeting in Whitney Hall.

Married women should be glad of their privileges under statutory law, the eminent woman lawyer stated. Under the old English Common Law system they were only man's chattels. Today—

Well, today women have their own property rights. They have their own inheritance rights. They can enter into binding and legal contracts.

It is only a generation or so ago that women were elevated from the incompetents to the class of eligibles in making contracts.

Outlining everyday law for women with special references to common legal knowledge for the wife and housewife and mother, Mrs. Schofield, whose parents were lawyers in this State, said it was high time women became intelligent about law and ceased to be the prey of designing men.

"Women of property have long been fertile prey for designing men," she said. "They will continue to be so until they shed the ignorance of everyday law and familiarize themselves with such things as contracts, what constitutes contracts, property rights, rights as married women and the necessity of making wills."

That husbands have always been liable for the necessities of life for their wives is a common thing. But that those necessities were determined by the manner and mode of a husband's standard is another thing.

"A husband's style of living and his status in life will always determine what are the necessaries for his wife," Mrs. Schofield told the women. She illustrated by telling of Mrs. A. whose husband was a common laborer.

Now a black dress for Sundays and housedresses for the week days would be her necessities and those for which her husband is liable.

But Mrs. B who bought jewels at an expensive shop, luxuriant fur coats, costly gowns, and whose husband and membership in exclusive clubs and drove a Rolls Royce, her necessities would take just such extravagance for Mrs. B to this alongside her husband and not shame him."

Medical expenses were also part of a husband's financial duties. But not the need of a clairvoyant, Mrs. Schofield explained, since such would only be a fancy article and a necessary.

The women were told that if they contemplated entering business together they must be sure and file with the town clerk what is known as a married woman's certificate, Mrs. Schofield explained, which would exempt her husband from liability for business debts, and protect not only the spouse but the wife as well.

Husband and wife can never enter business together as legal partners, since they are not competent to enter a binding contract with each other. Prior to 1902 a husband couldn't deed property directly to his wife, Mrs. Schofield stated, but today that, too, can be done, provided it is recorded with the registry.

The making of wills was stressed by the assistant attorney general if no will is made, the surviving parent gets one-third of the property and the children, be there one or more, receive the remaining two-thirds.

In making contracts, interested persons and some people were not competent, she said.

At this opening meeting Mrs. Wolfred Spencer, new president, presided. She welcomed the members after the warm weather vacation and expressed a desire to see big fire attendances continued.

Before introducing Mrs. Grace Caine, chairman of the Puritan Fair to be given by the club at the Hotel Statler, November 7, who urged the women to help, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Grace Tuttle, chairman of the legislative committee of the club. Mrs. Tuttle introduced Mrs. Schofield and then Mrs. Fred B. Pigeon, state legislative chairman of the Federation.

At the social hour which followed Mrs. Nellie Scott Rice was hostess.

Delegates nominated to attend the fall meeting of the State Federation to be held at the Brockton Theater, Oct. 25, with the Brockton Woman's Club as hostess, were Mrs. Everett Jones, Mrs. Arthur C. Mayo, Mrs. Eugene Smith, Mrs. Willard B. Freeman and Mrs. Francis Baker.

The representation of the executive board that money raised by the club for philanthropies be divided 60-40, with equal parts was adopted by the body.

These seven parts include three parts to the scholarship committee, two of which are to be used for the scholarship and the other for the reserve fund; one for appeals for community service, for co-operation with war veterans and for public health.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The first joint money-raising event of the year for the Massachusetts League of Women Voters will be a bridge party and tea in the ballroom of the Copley-Plaza, on Oct. 29, at 2:30 p. m. The arrangements are under the direction of Miss Elizabeth H. Piper.

The Presidents' Dinner will take place that evening at the Women's City Club. Mrs. Mary Tenney Healy, president, invites all presidents of the local leagues to attend. It is hoped that the consignment of Chinese jewelry and embroideries, which the budget and finance committee is to offer for sale, will arrive from China in time for this meeting.

WEDNESDAY MEETINGS

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB

The first meeting of the Political Science Club will be held in the Women's Club House, Lynn, at 2:30 p. m. All candidates at the coming election have been invited to address the gathering, since the meeting has been given over entirely to the political aspirants. The club is composed of 105 members and headed by Mrs. Eugene A. Potter.

STATE FEDERATION

Mrs. Azel A. Packard, president of the State Federation, will broadcast a message to clubwomen from WNAC at 11:30 a. m. Anne Dunnigan, soprano, accompanied by Dorothy Jefferson Paine, will entertain at 11:35, and at 11:50 Mrs. Fred L. Pigeon, state legislative chairman, will broadcast "Legislation, What Price Progress?"

SOUTH HADLEY FALLS WOMAN'S CLUB

A garden party will be held at the home of Mrs. F. M. Smith as a delightful introduction to a year of concentrated club activity by the South Hadley Falls Woman's Club. Hostesses for the day include Mrs. F. H. Webster, Mrs. A. P. Lane, Miss Marion Wallace, Mrs. Angie Harris and Mrs. C. J. Dietel. A dance recital will furnish much entertainment for the members. The performance will be staged by pupils of Miss Ruth Lane. The afternoon program starts at 2:30 in the Masonic Temple. Mrs. F. C. Hollis, president, will call the meeting to order.

Clothes Important Part in Scheme of Decoration

Paris Bureau of the Boston Evening American

PARIS, Oct. 8—At all events, be smart. Clothes are now such an important part of the decorative scheme, that it has become necessary for each of us to add our quota of beauty and smartness to whatever occasion we may be attending, whether we be one of a foursome at golf, or one of a party at the opera on a gala night. And so—at all events be smart. That this dictum is the slogan of the couturiers here, we have not the slightest doubt, for there is not one designer who has not entered the field of sports attire, and who does not give as much care and attention to a simple little morning frock, as to an elaborate afternoon or evening gown. Accessories, even to the smallest detail, are planned with the same thought and care, and the result is an outfit that seeks distinction, not through lavish magnificence, but through the far more subtle medium of quiet perfection, and impeccable taste. And, however much or little, is to be spent on a costume the same standard of distinction is attainable by all.

SKETCHED IN PARIS

JEAN PATOU R is one of the couturiers who has directed his genius to the designing of sports clothes that are in keeping with their surroundings. There is an absence of fussy detail, and it is unfortunate that this cannot be said of some of the sports outfits that we have seen this summer. For this practical but charming ensemble, he has used a tweed-like jersey, that is one of the most important of the new fabrics. The bodice and the skirt of the frock are in one piece, the material being woven in such a manner that the upper part, used for the bodice, is all beige with a faint plaid pattern. In the center part making the upper half of the skirt, the plaid is worked in a dark brown thread on the beige ground, while for the third part, the lower half of the skirt, the brown plaid is on a brown ground. The three-quarter-length coat is trimmed with a narrow band of beaver.

FROM the same house, comes an interesting evening frock in thin chiffon lame in pale rose and gold. The high waistline is way above normal, and the skirt reaches to the floor all around . In addition to these unusual features, the cut of the frock is altogether original and very complicated.

LONG SUIT ESTABLISHMENT

Salient Points of Bidding

Auction: North's bid of three Spades on the second round was a preference bid, not an assist. South jerked Spades on the strength of his own hand.

Contract: East, supporting his partner's Heart bid at bidding two Hearts, South is compelled to bid four Clubs to show the two-suiter nature of his hand, a bid fully justified by the value held. West bid long four Hearts. North can assume, but four Spades in support of his partner's two-suiter.

The Play

West upon the King of Hearts upon which East plays the Queen to induce his partner to continue with a low Heart.

West should read East as holding the Jack and should lead low for the second trick. According he leads the 5, his original fourth best Heart. South trumps and analyzes the situation before going to Trick 3. He readily sees that game cannot be made by cross-ruffing Clubs and Hearts, nor by the establishment by this means of a long Club, assuming the most favorable distribution (4-3) of the outstanding Clubs.

His only alternative is to establish the Diamonds in Dummy, employing the Ace of Spades as the card of entry on the third round of Spades to make the established Diamonds. Therefore, as the Ace of Spades must be conserved for this purpose he must lead a Diamond from his own hand, and the sacrifice a possible Diamond trick that might be made by finessing, in order to make a greater gain in that suit later on.

Accordingly he leads the King of Diamonds. West plays the Ace of Diamonds and then forces South with another Heart. South leads his remaining Diamond and effects the establishment of the suit in Dummy, East's Queen winning the trick. East leads the King of Clubs and Declarer comes up with the Ace. Declarer takes three rounds of trumps, winning the last round with Dummy's ace. The adverse trumps all falling, Dummy's four good Diamonds take the remaining tricks.

"Now she's always hungry,"

. . . says BOSTON mother!

"MARGARET is absolutely the picture of health again," says Mrs. J. Hayes, 8 Isabella Street, Boston. "A few weeks ago we had to force her to eat; now she's always hungry.

"I knew what to do when she became bilious, half-sick and listless, because we've always known about California Fig Syrup. Margaret's coated tongue and bad breath cleared up with the first few spoonfuls; and in just a few days her stomach and bowels were acting perfectly. She's gaining right along now."

California Fig Syrup has the full endorsement of the medical world. A pure vegetable product, loved by children. A gentle, but thorough cleanser of a youngster's system and a gentle energizer for sluggish bowels. A stimulator for lagging appetites and digestions; a help in building sturdy limbs and robust bodies.

Trade Good; Sentiment Hits Stocks

Why Wall St. Happenings Now Greatly Affect Whole Nation

—— By B. C. Forbes ——

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—President Wilson is dedicated. Professors psychological. Special [illegible]

But as Wall Street acted without rhyme or reason while the bull market was raging so it may act without rhyme or reason when prices go the other way. Ten per cent call money could stop the bull movement, but could 8 per cent call money stop Fridays collapse.

B. C. Forbes

Having gone to an sensational extremes in one direction, there is no guarantee that the stock market will not go equally far in the opposite direction regardless of justification or lack of justification. When the will to sell supplants the will to buy, questions cumble no matter how good business may be or how cheap money may become. Sentiment always sways speculation, we have never had a more striking demonstration of this than during the current year.

Certainly there was no sudden transformation in the condition of American industry, American agriculture, American monetary conditions, American trade, last week. Yet see what happened on the New York Stock Exchange. A strong market on Wednesday was followed by a demoralized market on Thursday and Friday, while Saturday brought a brisk recovery.

There you have psychology, sentiment and fear alternating with hope.

* * *

It has been widely declared that the chief sufferers have been little speculators, who couldn't meet demands for additional margin. Unquestionably, some was considerable such selling on Friday, when the total turnover was the heaviest since the fateful eight-million market day of March 26.

But don't imagine for a moment that the big fellows were not hit hard. Look at how the highest priced stocks slumped during Friday's turmoil.

What happens in Wall Street is of more concern to the nation now than it used to be because of the enormous increase in the number of citizens who share in the ownership of securities. Today is equivalent to two out of every three families in the land. American Telephone and Telegraph alone has 500,000 stockholders. Of these there are more than 300,000 the Pennsylvania Railroad 157,000, General Motors upward of 100,000, the Steel Corporation 150,000, to specify only a few. A list of upward of 100,000 stockholders is becoming quite common for large utility, railway and industrial corporations.

You will thus see that disturbing events in the stock market are more visible than ever before to have a disturbing influence upon prosperity. Upon or suppression toward buying, upon new enterprise upon even power, upon home building, upon travel upon employment.

* * *

The view repeatedly expressed here has been that it was in no sense 'overdue' that the American people had the right of stock speculation should be discouraged instead of stimulated and that the interest to sanity be conducted gradually, orderly, not precipitately. But all such rationality was thrown to the winds. Orders to sell were given so more than 300,000 the Pennsylvania Railroad 157,000, General Motors upward of 100,000, the Steel Corporation 150,000, to specify only a few. A list of upward of 100,000 stockholders is becoming quite common for large utility, railway and industrial corporations.

* * *

Last week's happenings on the New York Stock Exchange and on other exchanges throughout the country should have created astonishment—except astonishment that they had so long been warded off.

* * *

What of the outlook now?

The rally which was started on Saturday may conceivably be developed into a genuine recovery. But that the year's peaks will again be reached by boomed stocks is most unlikely.

If another violent sinking spell attacks the market towards the end of the year, it may last much more than two days and may go over month for it.

* * *

Let us hope that swift and drastic reduction in brokers' loans will bring much lower money rates and that these will have a helpful influence upon industry and business.

Our economic position, outside of the stock market, is essentially sound.

It is entirely natural that an abnormally [illegible] should be followed by a less active fall. All indications still show that 1929 trade totals will afford very favorable comparisons with other prosperous years.

CHAIN BANKING MOVEMENT IS ANALYZED

[illegible] banks. [illegible] controlled [illegible] the absorption of [illegible] banks [illegible] branch banking [illegible] to engage in [illegible] and parallel [illegible] Reserve [illegible] Digest. It points out that branch banking and [illegible] the holding companies are an unsatisfactory experiment, [illegible] regulations [illegible] be developed which will eliminate the [illegible] dangers of chain banking.

That some change must be made in the banking structure of the United States is universally admitted, says Mr. Wright, for the present restrictive system is a distinct anachronism entirely out of keeping with modern industrial and financial progress.

During [illegible] era of mass production mergers and mammoth enterprises which leaves no place for the small independent in industry; set our present-day banking system is comparable to the industrial situation at the beginning of the 20th century. We are attempting to give a banking service to business and the public through more than 25,000 separate and independent corporations, most of which are small and weak and situated in the rural communities.

FIRST RECOGNITION

The first express recognition of this situation was seen in the efforts of prominent bankers to force changes in the banking laws to permit the purchase of small banks for branch banking purposes. In other days when local communities were isolated the business of every small town was autonomous and the local boss could dictate its business. Now however, local utility enterprises and other concerns have become absorbed by larger companies backed by great aggregation of capital and their banking requirements go to the large city banks. Thus the small bank is deprived of a large percentage of its former income.

In order to bring about a more equal distribution of money over the country, banking interests generally favor branch banking, on a nation-wide scale, which would make the American bank [illegible] ten conform to that of most foreign nations where branch banking is the rule. It is felt that a branch banking system would eliminate many of the evils of small bank failures.

Because of the restrictive laws governing branch banking [illegible] most every one of the big banking interests have faced practical difficulties in that they are permitted branches only in the cities in which the parent banks are located.

The latest device for the broadening of banking control is the bank holding company, which is rapidly gaining favor because it is not subject to the usual state and nation wide laws which severely restrict regular branch banking. The type of holding company has the advantage also of being able to preserve the acquired bank as an independent entity, a condition highly desirable both to the bank and to the community.

OPPONENTS' VIEWS

Branch banking, on the other hand is somewhat objectionable because it eliminates the personal element. The business man of a small community prefers to deal with a local bank, where he feels assured of closer co-operation than he would obtain from the branch bank, whose control is vested in a small institution elsewhere. Furthermore, while nation-wide branch banking, in many respects would benefit the rural communities it would place entirely extravagant and unwarranted power in sections of the country where there are large cities, strong banks and big corporations, by virtue of the fact that all the great banks of the country would be in direct competition with each other.

Opponents of the chain banking method point to one outstanding danger. So long as the small member bank prospered the holding company would share in the profits, but in a period of business depression the holding company would hesitate about giving financial assistance and leave struggling bank to its own devices. Should the present holding company structure this is undoubtedly [illegible] but a careful analysis of competent banking interests might develop new regulations for the protection of small member banks.

Admittedly, unrestricted branch banking is a radical department from the American system and hardly would be practicable in this country. Furthermore, it is doubtful whether public sentiment would countenance such concentration of banking power.

The alternative, therefore, is to present chain holding company type of structure, governed perhaps by proper legislation for the protection of the small member banks. The result would be a group of national banking structures combining the benefits, and eliminating the much-discussed evils, of both chain and branch banking.

Ambassador Hotels Profits Increase

Operating profit of Ambassador Hotels Corp. for nine months ended September 30 was $1,168,579 as to $1,229,718 in same period of 1928. Profit after interest but before federal taxes was $526,591 against $523,830.

Union National of Lowell Lifts Rate

Union National Bank, Lowell declared a quarterly dividend of $4 a share, payable October 15. This represents an increase in the annual rate from the $12 base which has been in force since 1926 to a $16 annual basis.

William C. Spence, treasurer of the Lowell Courier-Citizen, has been elected a director.

ARCTIC FLIER FINDS NO TRACE OF LOST PARTY

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 8 (AP)—A radio message today told of a 1500-mile flight by a Canadian aviator over the far-northern lands of the Canadian Northwest in an unsuccessful search for a group of gold prospectors missing for 10 days.

Punch Dickins, known as one of the most skilled Arctic fliers, radioed from Ft Smith, on Alberta's northern boundary, that he had completed a search from Ft Reliance, at the east end of Great Slave lake, to Bathurst Inlet, on Canada's far northern coast, flying at times within the Arctic Circle.

No word had been received from Dickins in four days and plans were underway to send a relief plane in search of him. It is explained, however, that he had made the flight in the three days planned, but had been storm bound at Reliance for three days.

The flight of the Western Canada Airways pilot eliminated from the search all but a short section of the route which Col C. D. Mealpine and his seven companions had intended to cover in their two planes. Only a 50-mile area remains to be scanned, but the possibility exists that the prospectors may have been forced from their course.

Four other planes are engaged in the search for the missing men, but flying has been hampered by the extreme cold. At Baker lake, one of the base points, the temperature dropped to 18 degrees and at Bathurst to 21. Ice was forming on the lakes, making the use of pontoons virtually impossible. The Government tug Neophyte, carrying skis for the planes and other supplies, has arrived within 25 miles of Baker lake after being delayed by heavy gales.

She's Suing Thaw Again

Marcia Estardus, dancer, whose $100,000 damage suit against Harry K. Thaw, "Broadway playboy," was scheduled to go to trial again today in New York. The first suit ended in a hung jury. She charges Thaw acted "ungentlemanly" with her.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 8 (INS)—According to police the man who blew a charge of gelignite into the face of Warden Thomas J. Lange was crazed when he was refused permission to see his wife, it was disclosed today.

He is Frank Adam, 33, of Brooklyn.

"I told the warden because I was nervous and, besides, I had the gun," Joseph Aden, another game warden who was severely injured at the time, Kramer met death identified him as the slayer.

"That's the man," Allen cried. "That's the man who shot 'Shorty' and beat me with his gun."

CHAPTER 35

"THAT you, Simpson?" He [illegible] partner in the firm of [illegible] were [illegible] Goodlin Radio Co." D. [illegible] get the special information for a Great I?" . . . Oh! I m! Ah!

Then after a pause: "Yes, they just came to hand this morning." How do you look to you?"

The old man the receiver against his ear, holding [illegible]

"You think they're [illegible] What's that? . . . You don't want to get on your own, eh? You want me to look at em? All right. You send em down, quick, so I can phone you, mine on before the closing of the Ket.

What's that? No not a penny one cent! He must [illegible] can't they see with one [illegible] send Mortimer.

Excited answer from Mr. Cyril Simpson, Mortimer gone off to the na... he? . . . And . . . Why? We're a regular customer at the Your cub, you ask? Indeed I have! Well I don't believe it! He's a lazy loafer. He... He... Better send Craig.

He hung up the receiver and came back to his chair, slumping down into it as though wearied.

Denise tucked his rug again about him. A flush had mounted to her cheeks at news of Mabey coming . . . of such hours to get rid of that the number of out-of state cars coming into Massachusetts, which are not required to subscribe to the Massachusetts equipment, totaled 200000 a year. The Merchants survey alone showed, he said, 3000 foreign cars parked in Boston streets within a 24-hour period.

"Loafer!" repeated her uncle as though unaware of her presence. "To think how hard I worked, and with no proper education either, to build up my firm—and one day it will go to a no good idler like Mortimer!"

Denise tried to do away with his vexation.

"Mortimer's young yet, uncle. He'll settle down. He's got the making of something in him."

Then he hasn't let us see a glimmer of it yet! I'm disgusted with him . . .

From that it was an easy step to bring the conversation on to Mabey.

"If Mortimer were like him . . . Deep vertical lines creased Mr. Criswell's forehead . . .

"Well who not try to bring the two of them together more? Wouldn't it be a good idea, uncle?"

Mortimer has no fancy for hard working and ambitious fellows. They show him up to be even more futile, by contrast . . .

Denise seated herself again at her uncle's feet and rubbed her blonde head against him. How best to wangle out of the old man an advance on her next month's allowance? Get him in the right mood. That was the main thing. this talk of poor Mortimer wasn't too promising . . .

"It's so hard when one gets in with the wrong crowd—the idlers and smart set—to shake off their influence, uncle. So we must just hope for the best about Mortimer. In my own case, I thought over that talk you and I had . . . You remember? . . . about having a good and an education and amounting to someth g?" If would give me a chance—take me into the firm as a partner?" man. I bet you'd make good at it . . .

He was pleased at the turn of earnestness, although he did not like her too literally.

"Of course you would. Who could resist giving you their account if you looked at them so bewitchingly!" He chuckled her ear good humor returning.

"But I'm in earnest," repeated Denise firmly. "I don't want to bother you with my private plans just now when you're not well enough to be annoyed and pestered, but this I will say—that I'm not running around with the old gang like Jack Van Tuyl and the others . . . I'm reading and studying . . .

Mr. Criswell was well pleased with this evidence of front. It was most promising.

"I like young men of the type of Mabey Craig," proceeded his niece, daringly.

Mr. Criswell shot her a keen glance.

Denise looked childishly naive.

"So I hope you'll ask him down some time. Maybe for a week-end, for my coming out party?"

"Certainly. Any other young fellows you've got your eye on?" He was becoming jocular . . .

"Oh, uncle! Don't tease . . . I was only following your advice . . . I haven't got my eye on anybody . . .

"Of course not." He reassured her. But his mind had started working on this new idea. Bill ... [illegible] young fellow! ... [illegible] ... [illegible] ... [illegible]

WAR IS OPENED ON RECKLESS AUTOISTS

Allen, Parker and Crowley Combine in a Move to End Slaughter

With Governor Allen and Registrar of Motor Vehicles George A. Parker directing, a war on reckless motorists was officially started today with the police department of every city and town in the State participating.

Capt. Parker sounded the battle cry of the campaign in a plea to the police heads of the various departments in which he asked upon them to make the highways safe.

While the registrar feels that the police are doing much to make the highways safe he urges them to extra effort during the present month and guarantees that he will stand to the limit in whatever action they take. No leniency will be shown to violators of the safety laws he declared.

Commissioner Allen is expected to attend this meeting as well as C. E. Pettibone of Boston recently elected president of the National Safety Council.

Superintendent Crowley intends to press vigorously in the courts various manslaughter charges. He feels that in the past the courts have been too lax in handing out automobile verdicts on manslaughter cases on the plea that the motorist brought before them are "rather decent people."

Many men find it difficult to get the point across to their friends and relatives that they are not seeing double when they see two girls, but that a man has been killed or badly injured when he sees one to begin with. Then the sympathy is on the part of the driver.

WANTS FULLER CALLED IN GAS INQUIRY

Petitioners' Attorney Desires Him to Produce Data on November Hearing

Chairman Henry C. Attwill of the public utilities commission was today requested by Atty. Wycliffe C. Marshall of Watertown to summon former Gov. Fuller as a witness for the Nov. 15 hearing on Mayor Nichols' petition for a reduction in Boston Consolidated Gas Company rates.

Marshall represents certain customers of the gas company who objected to the new schedule of rates put into effect Oct. 1.

In his letter to the original petitioners, copies of which were sent to Consolidated Gas Company, the commissioner in Attwill's name, formally requested that the Hon. Alvan T. Fuller of Malden be summoned to appear as a witness at the hearing to appear before the commission on Friday, Nov. 15, to give evidence of public benefits of what he knows relating to the gas rate, and that he be further directed to bring with him all books, papers, documents, memoranda and any and every paper and description bearing on the pending gas rate case.

The public as commission has interpreted a summons would be issued if requested by the city and it is expected that Marshall's request will be considered favorably as a courtesy.

Couple Fly to N. Y. for 5th Wedding Anniversary

In years to come the fifth wedding anniversary celebration of the Hugo J. Andersons of 550 Tremont st., West Roxbury, will not be memorable, but something to relate in detail to fond grandparents.

The couple took the fifth matrimonial year date to go to New York by air and when they arrived at the Boston airport today they exalted the method of celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson left for Brooklyn in a Colonial Air Transport tri-motor Ford to take in the sights of the big town.

"We couldn't think of any better way to celebrate our wedding anniversary than by air," the couple agreed.

WELLESLEY WAR HERO TO TAKE FIGHT FOR JOB TO COURT

BALKS AT NAME ON TABLET

Memorial Hypocrisy, He Says, With Veterans Jobless on the Streets

Informed by Wellesley selectmen that his name will go on his home town's honor roll whether he likes it or not, Herbert Weeks, wounded W. D. war veteran, prepared today to seek a superior court injunction compelling Wellesley to give him work with pay or not at all.

Declaring that it is hypocrisy for a community to erect bronze tablets in its churches while permitting them to walk the streets unemployed, Weeks has three times written to the Wellesley war memorial committee in protest against having his name inscribed on the $4000 plate which is to decorate the town hall.

WILL SILENT MORTAL

There has been no real explanation advanced of the strange ups and downs of our new manager. He is one of those silent individuals who thinks what he thinks and keeps it to himself. There is no doubt in our minds but that he had player arguments with owners and got out, rather than let some magnate run his ball club for him.

McKechnie is one of those baseball men who stay with the game 24 hours each day. And that is exactly what the Braves need. They are crying for a boss who will live with them all the way as well as on. There must have somebody to hold 'em together when things are breaking badly.

William appears to be that sort of a chap. He has his own opinions and acts on them, without any fuss or rumpus. He's as set as a pillar in his ways, once he starts. He pays no attention to the men. He's a disciplinarian though he doesn't let the world know it.

From the way we see things, this sort of a bird may be the makings of the Braves. Judge Fuchs has tried everything else including himself, and arrived nowhere.

Now he has wisely concluded to take a shot with a bird who knows the National League players, who is a real baseball nut, and who will keep order and hustle on his team, or swing the axe. Entirely too much coddling and sentiment on our Braves these last few years.

McKECHNIE MISJUDGED

Here is what Ed Balinger, veteran Pittsburgh writer, says about Bill. Ed has been around the game since the heyday of Honus Wagner and knows his onions:

"McKechnie is the most misjudged man in baseball," chirps Ed. "I have seen him build up and steer two teams into pennants. Now he studies and watches the game as very few other managers do. He is a fine leader and can handle men, which is the principal part of a manager's job.

"Bill is a straight shooting, clean living chap, but he isn't Puritanical. If some of his kids cut up a ball he knows just what to do. He never would stand for violations of training rules, and perhaps that made him unpopular with some players.

"But the only way of judging for him, and that's the real input when a manager can win consistently and have his players cheering him; he has to do all right. I believe the Judge picked the one man in the game who can give the kind of help he needs in the shortest possible time."

And there you are.

RABBIT NOT READY

A lot of fans were cheering for the Rabbit to manage the Tribe, but the midget is not ready yet. He still has, who knows how many playing years in front of him. And while he can get a star's salary he would be foolish to take on the managerial burden.

Malden High Eleven Climbs Toward School Title

MELROSE TO OFFER TEST SATURDAY

MALDEN HIGH SCHOOL is on its way back to the high position it formerly held in the football gridiron world.

Under the capable direction of Head Coach Edward Goodrean and his three assistants, Warren McGurk, Ray Morrill and Bob Blair, the Blue and Gold banner is destined to ripple once more in the breeze of brilliant victories.

Last season's poor showing has been forgotten and a spirit of confidence and aliveness pervades the Malden gridiron camp.

Thus far Malden has won three games piling up a total of 61 points against Lynn General Electric Apprentices, Newton and Haverhill while none of these outfits were able to make a single tally of any description.

Last Saturday's conquest of Haverhill with four Malden regulars out of the lineup proved that Malden is far from being a one man team, or an eleven which must depend upon the efforts of individual players rather than team work.

ON next Saturday, Malden is scheduled to meet Melrose, the team which upset the Blue and Gold a year ago. Melrose is very strong this year and has a fine backfield, but Malden's line is favored to hold the foe in check while Sammy Fishman and John O'Brien are sure to wreak havoc upon the visiting aggregation.

When asked what he thought was responsible for Malden's success this season, Coach Goodrean, in the modest fashion which is characteristic of him, said that the assistance given him by Coach Morrill and Blair and the fact that several veterans were back with the team, this year were the reasons why his outfit had captured popular attention and admiration.

THERE is a belief prevalent in Malden and other places, however, that Goodreau himself is the man to whom the plaudits belong. His intelligent leadership has gained the respect of players and populace alike.

Goodreau has a heavy line at Malden this year. The total weight of the forward wall from end to end is 180 pounds, while the backs average around 155 pounds.

THERE is no question about the Malden line being a strong one. At the ends are stationed Charlie Hill and Long John McCarthy. The former youth is a fine offensive player, while McCarthy's tentacle-like hands and rangy build make him the ideal forward pass receiver. He punts well, also.

George Fenton and Mathew Sevitsky are hard tacklers and use their weight to advantage on both offense and defense. Raymond Perry, the lightest man in the line, occupies the pivot position and despite his 155 pounds is a difficult man to push aside. He has yet to make an inaccurate pass. E. Hill and Bob Lapidus are the answers to a coach's prayer for a pair of good guards. Lapidus comes out of the line on occasions to lift long punts into enemy terrain.

SAMMY FISHMAN and John O'Brien have been teaming up at the halfback berths and both are running neck and neck as regards all-round ability. Fishman is one of the shiftiest backs ever to wear Blue and Gold apparel, while O'Brien is a good running back who can punt if necessary.

Pete Prusak is regular quarterback and an efficient one. Crowley has seen service as pilot of the team in the last three years. He is a shifty runner who will improve when he drops the habit of passing momentarily after catching punts.

Reaman, one of the best schoolboy pitchers in Greater Boston last spring, hurls the pigskin from the fullback berth as accurately as he once tossed the baseball to Kelley, another good baseball hurler, can throw the forward pass faster than Crowley but prefers playing at one of the halfback posts. Lloyd Tupper, a second string back averages 45 yards on his punts.

MALDEN will not lose any of its stars through scholastic deficiencies this season unless Sam Fishman, Matt Suvalsky, Bob Lapidus, Max Winerman, Donald McGranahan and Raymond Perry cease playing their present roles of honor status with "A" averages in the majority of their studies.

A difficult schedule confronts Malden this year, but at its present rate of progress it should be among the gridiron leaders when Thanksgiving Day rolls around.

"Sing a Song for Waltham High" is one of the catchiest football songs ever written, and how that Waltham band can play it!

Somerville needs sideline markers for its gridiron, and would benefit if a press box were constructed at Dilboy Field.

Foxx Says Athletics Will Out-Slug Cubs

By JIMMY FOXX

Star First Baseman of the Philadelphia Athletics

Written Expressly for Universal Service

(Copyright, 1929, by Universal Service)

CHICAGO, Oct. 8—I do not want to appear boastful, but it seems to me on the face of things that we will outhit the Cubs by a big margin.

STARTING at the head of the batting order, we have Max Bishop, who has been well-named "camera-eye." Max has not had an especially good season, due mainly to trouble with his eyesight, but he is in fine condition at present, and we are all expecting big things of him in the coming series.

Bishop is not the slugger Hornsby is, of course, but the main duty of a lead-off man is to get on the base paths, and that is where Max excels. He rarely hits at a bad ball, and I venture to say that he has had as many unintentional passes to first this year as another man in the league.

MULE HAAS is a greatly improved player over last season and his specialty has been making great catches and saving games for us. His hitting is well above the .300 mark and I rate him as almost as dangerous hitter as Hack Wilson, who will cover center field for the Cubs.

The reason for this is that Mule has the knack of hitting 'em where they ain't. Our pitchers do not fear Hack for one reason, because he strikes out so much. He will have a hard time connecting with the speed of Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg.

In this connection, I think Mule Haas is a fine example of the managerial ability of Connie Mack. Mule was nothing to rave about when he was with Atlanta, but Mack always figured that Haas had great possibilities and his judgment has proved sound. And don't forget, too, that Mule is developing into an extra base hitter and there is no reason why in a year or two he should not be a leader in this department.

In Mickey Cochrane, who has batted in third place for us most of the season, the opposing pitchers will find a mighty hard man to fool. Mickey hits all kinds of pitching to both left and right field and he is far superior in stickwork to any of the Chicago muskmen.

It is hardly necessary to comment on Al Simmons, one of the greatest hitters of all times. Stephenson is not in his class, in my opinion, either as a fielder or a hitter. Few fans realize that Al has been bothered all year with rheumatism in his legs. He was unable to play at all early in the season.

It is not generally known that when Al did take his regular place in the lineup he was not a well man and his ailment troubled him all through the season. Nor until we had the pennant virtually clinched would the slugger take a few days rest, although from time to time during the season Connie urged him to do so.

I do not like to compare myself with Grimm of the Cubs, who I am glad to hear is now in good shape and will probably play through the series. I was in a slump toward the end of the season. I seemed to be hitting the ball as hard as I ever did, they wouldn't land safe.

I am just hoping I'll be lucky during the series. I admit I am anxious to take a look at that left field in Chicago where it is said to be so easy to park homers and so is Al Simmons and the rest of the boys.

REGARDING . . . I think it was a smart move of Connie's not to allow us an afternoon . . . practice on foreign soil. There is a lot of difference between judging balls when there is nobody in the stands and when they are filled with a lot of cheering maniacs.

I do not see that a practice session would do us much if any good. This is just another proof of the fact that we are taking the World Series as if it were any important series in the league race. We are not doing any worrying.

Rube Miller has just enjoyed his best season and I rate him above Kiki Cuyler of the Cubs. Both have distinguished themselves as base stealers, but you can't steal a base until you get to first and I figure Rieg will get more hits than Kiki.

EVERY DAY IN ATHLETICS WIN FIRST GAME OF WORLD SERIES

THIRD INNING

Athletics—Foxx up. Foxx was given a cool hand as he stepped up to bat. He nearly broke his neck swinging at a curve. He fanned the performance. After letting a ball go by he fouled the next one on the stands and then fanned. Haas up. Haas fouled one off to Hornsby and then fanned on three pitched balls. Haas was out on a fly to Cuyler. Bishop up. Bishop hit a pretty fast one to Wilson and then fouled a ball to the left side. Bishop walked on a wide one and then went to second on a perfect throw to Stephenson. He scored on Simmons' single to center. Simmons was out stealing second, Hornsby to Stephenson. NO RUNS.

SIXTH INNING

Athletics—Mickey up. Mickey was given a big hand as he stepped up to bat. He missed the first one and fouled the next one. The next one was a foul. Hornsby had no use for that fooling curve. Wilson up. He struck out on three pitched balls. Another ball was pitched to Wilson but he managed to get a piece of it and it went to Hornsby. Hornsby to Stephenson. NO RUNS.

SEVENTH INNING

Athletics—Walberg up. Walberg was given a big hand as he stepped up to bat. He missed the first one and fouled the next one. Walberg then struck out on three pitched balls. Boley up. Boley was given a big hand as he stepped up to bat. He missed the first one and then fouled the next one into the stands. Boley then struck out on three pitched balls. Miller up. Miller was given a big hand as he stepped up to bat. He missed the first one and then fouled the next one into the stands. Miller then struck out on three pitched balls. NO RUNS.

FOURTH INNING

Athletics—Simmons up. Simmons was given a big hand as he stepped up to bat. He fouled the first pitch. He missed the next one and then fouled the next one into the stands. Simmons then struck out on three pitched balls. Dykes up. Dykes was given a big hand as he stepped up to bat. He missed the first one and then fouled the next one into the stands. Dykes then struck out on three pitched balls. Cochrane up. Cochrane was given a big hand as he stepped up to bat. He missed the first one and then fouled the next one into the stands. Cochrane then struck out on three pitched balls. NO RUNS.

EIGHTH INNING

Athletics—Cochrane up. Cochrane took a ball and then let one go for a strike. Another one that cut the corner of the plate was called a strike and the next one was inside. Mickey then singled to right.

The first pitch to Simmons was low and the next one was a strike. Another low one made the count three balls. However, the next pitch was over for a strike. Simmons hit to English who fumbled, hurrying for a double play and both runners were safe. Foxx up. Jimmy let a high one go by for a ball and the next one was a strike. He took another strike. English got Foxx's grounder in his hands but fumbled the ball as he started to throw the ball to second and the bases were filled.

Miller was up. Miller hit the first ball for a single to center, scoring Cochrane and Simmons. Foxx up. Foxx fanned. Dykes up. The first one to Dykes was inside and then Dykes fouled the next one. Dykes then fouled one off. Bush to Gonzales. Miller taking third and Dykes second on the play. Boley up. Ball one, strike one called. Boley hit to the box and Miller was out at the plate, Bush to Hornsby to Gonzales. Dykes scoring. Bishop up. Bishop hit a fly to Cuyler. Haas up. Haas hit a fly to Stephenson. NO RUNS.

Cubs—Cuyler up. Cuyler came to bat three times in the game although Howard scratched at the ball on the third one. He ran across with good interference after then scratched a hit that he almost scooped up. Stephenson got the ball and threw to Bishop forcing Cuyler at second. Bishop to Simmons. Ehmke up. Ehmke scared everyone in the park when he missed a third strike. Hornsby let it get by him and Ehmke scampered to first. Ehmke fouled the next one into the stands. Hornsby to Stephenson. NO RUNS.

EIGHTH INNING

Athletics—Bush and Gonzales up. Bush popped to Bishop. Bush up. Bush fouled the first one into the stands. Bush then struck out on three pitched balls. Haas bounced to Hornsby. Haas up. Haas fouled the first one into the stands. Haas then struck out on three pitched balls. NO RUNS.

NINTH INNING

Athletics—Cochrane up. Cochrane took a ball and then let one go for a strike. Another one that cut the corner of the plate was called a strike and the next one was inside. Mickey then singled to right.

Dr. Bisch's Daily Health Hint

THE best light is sunlight. It acts as a disinfectant. It kills disease germs. It stimulates the entire body. It helps to keep people happy. It is best for the eyes when not reading directly in it. We all need the sun. It is good to be tanned, but not burned.

This Day in Our History

ON October 6, 1918, the President of the United States informed the German chancellor that so long as Germans and Austrian armies are on Allied soil he cannot propose an armistice. The real armistice was signed by the powers on November 11.

GIRL CLAIMS RIGHT TO LOVE AND HAPPINESS

Ruts of Thinking

By LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D.
Famous Authority on Health and Psychology

PRACTICE observing your own reactions.

Remember that you are never a disinterested, impartial observer when trying to discover what ruts of thinking and behavior you may have inadvertently grooved into.

For you human beings is continually on the defensive anyway.

We are constantly making excuses for our conduct. We are egotistic and stubborn. Often we are completely blind to facts that frustrate our plans or injure the self-esteem about ourselves.

We are always trying to justify our weakness and are making excuses instead of getting out and doing what we should like.

One thing we find it hardest to do is to subject ourselves to be wrong. We are prone to criticize others for slovenliness, too harsh to remind them of their weaknesses.

If you doubt the validity of these statements, if you think they are exaggerations, have a heart to heart talk with yourself and find out.

Explore your own life. Maybe you will be surprised to find that little you have changed in the past years. Maybe the changes were so slightly you have benefited by experiences of the past and by habits which were obviously bad.

For instance examine your way of living and thinking for the past year and compare it with the year that preceded.

Have you actually changed much?

Have you not remained just about as unsympathetic, as easily

You Can't Win and Keep a Man's Love Unless Perfect Harmony Exists Between You

Harmony Must Rule in the Perfect Romance

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
An Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

"I HAVE a right to love," writes Sally in a letter to this column. "What happiness is there," asks Sally, "for one who loves and is not loved? Life is cruel and unfair!"

"I have a right to love."

That is a modern viewpoint. And it is true. Every living being has the right to love. But not one of us has demands that we be loved. That is a gift which fate may or may not deal out to us.

The great problem, today, on which philosophy, psychology and science are concentrating is how to bring harmony to the love relation-ship. That is the high quest on which this column is engaged to help bring joy, happiness and success in the romance and marriage of your girl and girl.

In considering what love is let us consider, first of all, what love is not. The desire to own or dominate another person is often mistaken for love, but that is exactly what love is not. Nowadays even parents are not allowed to own and dominate their children, except within the law and for a limited number of years until they reach the age of maturity. Then they are free to make their own decisions and to live their own lives.

Bessie does not love Bob. She is infatuated with him. And cannot win his love. He is indifferent to her. Bessie's infatuation for Bob is not love. It is a desire to possess him. Love does not seek to possess, but it does seek to be possessed.

Bessie, let us say, is infatuated with Bob. And cannot win his love. He is indifferent to her. Bessie's infatuation for Bob is not love. It is a desire to possess him. Love does not seek to possess, but it does seek to be possessed.

What can I do to make Bob love me?" Bessie frantically asks herself. Nothing. Bessie can do nothing to make Bob love her. Bessie can only be herself. She can only be the best that is in her. She can only be as true, as sincere, as unselfish, as loyal as she knows how. Bessie can only be a lady in deed and in word. Bessie can only be a lady in thought. Bessie can only be a lady in manner. Bessie can only be a lady in appearance. Bessie can only be a lady in every way that she knows how to be a lady. Bessie can only be a lady in every way that she knows how to be a lady. Bessie can only be a lady in every way that she knows how to be a lady.

AT THE DIAL

BY THE RADIO EDITOR

TONIGHT'S feature attraction at the show is the famous Silver Masked Tenor. This remarkable singer has confidently kept his name out of print during all the years that he has thrilled vast audiences throughout the land. He was undoubtedly the first singer to popularize the tenor voice on the radio. It was discovered by a special technique to which he was able to produce the best qualities of both the human and mechanical microphone. Because of the many years of experience which he has had before the mikes, he will be especially thrilling to the hearts of the veteran fans and in a manner of his own to the newer ones.

ON ONE OF THE MARVELS of the modern radio industry, the automobile, which brings a continuous flow of last minute information to the American motorist, nothing further need be said. Suffice it to say that the entire resources of a large automobile manufacturing organization are at the disposal of the motorist who tunes in on the Automobile Hour.

BIG BROTHER BOB EMERY of WEAF will appear on the air for the first time in the new season tonight as master of ceremonies of the Eveready Hour. The Eveready Hour has won prodigious musical sounds in its distinct realms. It has won its way into the hearts of millions of music lovers through the medium of sound. When the band is brought into the electrical field and recorded with the human voice, sounds are produced. This is the only musical organization which has ever been able to record successfully without actually conducting it. The tone color secured is similar to those of the violin.

The Eveready is on exhibition at the A. E. M. A. Electrical Exhibition, as well as a demonstration on both sides of the Radio Show.

Big Brother invites all to listen in to the broadcast of it at the Big Brother Club meetings tonight, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings at 7.

To assist Big Brother in this radio demonstration, Alexander Stronach and Zinaida Rzaschell, both pupils of Prof. Graudina, will be in the studio during the broadcast.

FRANK CRUMIT, popular star of the vaudeville and musical comedy stage, will be heard during the Eveready Program tonight over WEAF and the Co-operative Broadcasting System at 9 o'clock. Crumit will sing three of Tosti's "Good Bye" will complete the musical specialties.

What's a Job Worth

This One Cost Three Soldiers and Higher Dollars—and Was Lost

SOME men love their jobs, some hate them and give them little attention, some think they own them.

One who apparently belongs in the latter category was the central figure of an unusual case which, a day or two ago, found its way to the district court in Lowell.

A foreman in one of the rooms of the Merrimack Shoe Company discharged one of the employes because, he said, the man's work was "unsatisfactory."

The man in question, one Philip Letourneau, appealed to the plant manager without success and, returning, threatened the foreman, saying, it was testified, "You got me fired; I'll get you."

On the street, Letourneau told a younger man about it, a husky lad of 18. He took the boy to the shop and said, "Strike this man and I'll give you five dollars."

The boy thought Letourneau was "fooling," he testified, but he struck the blow.

Letourneau, he told the court, thought the BOY was "fooling," but he paid the money.

The foreman didn't think anyone was fooling. The blow split his lip. Three stitches were required to close the wound.

Judge Fisher appears to have been in merciful mood. Letourneau, accused of "threatening," was fined $50 and sentenced to the House of Correction for one month. The youth—in a larger city he might be called a "gorilla"—was fined $25 and given two months. In each case the sentence was suspended during good behavior.

In some shops, and under certain conditions, it is beyond the power of any employe to discharge another without a hearing. Mr. Letourneau should have known that in this particular shop the foreman was a person with authority.

Whether he did or didn't, he had NO right to take the law into his own hands. The blow he struck, moreover, was a COWARD'S blow.

But what amazes most is that in the quiet city of Lowell you can step out into the street and for five dollars hire a man to assault a stranger who has given him no offense.

Newest Police Work in the Cape Cod Canal

RADIO, speedster and printing-telegraph all had helped the modern policeman in his pursuit of the up-to-date crook, and now, using the seaplane, the officer seems to be not merely on even terms with his quarry but slightly in the lead.

He won't have long to wait.

When a plane loaded with New York officers caught up with the tugboat Harry S. Keeler, in the Cape Cod Canal near Bourne on Saturday, History was written.

Captain "Bill" Baker of the Keeler readily acknowledged an altercation with the skipper of a coal barge, off Fort Schuyler in the Bronx, but he did not know the man was dead.

Was he willing to return to New York without requisition papers? He was and he did.

Baker has no criminal record, was never arrested before in his life, but his novel capture has given police authorities a New Idea. The New York department is in the market for planes.

One of these days you may be sitting on the roof watching a battle in the air between gunmen and the Law.

The police are getting smarter.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Glorious spectacle among musicians at lunching among theater orchestras. There assembled a thinning and white-haired set carrying everything to bring to be all night and all the morning before the curtain is shrilling in the dark. Coupled with this dilemma there is a considerable effort of chestnuts at dinning and remedies. Until a year ago there was at least a fighting chance to get a nap while the audience was seated and at intermission. Under the orchestra pits filled with nearly are 15 elegant lounges.

Then musicians would retire, before the curtain goes up. Many big radio leaders have removed to comfortable homes in Connecticut, Long Island and Westchester. Now it has come the turn of the Broadway district to build apartments in several city in the country.

No New Yorker who has seen the orchestral capital. No musician could go long without it, but now with the movies, the vaudeville, the cabarets, the night clubs, hotels and restaurants crowded. Cabarets have cut down the use of orchestras for dancing, too it can be made.

The big skilled-slapping organizations with their clubhouse pinochle have shrunk to a muted quartette, and in two of the smartest new hotel dining rooms the orchestras are composed of a piano, violin and cello. The number of musicians thrown out of work recently reaches thousands. And those are here; let out daily.

Of course, the condition that exists in New York is more acute than for those employed in lesser municipalities because opportunities are there limited. Radio work has offered an outlet for a few, but the radio, generally speaking, has added in adding to the jobless army.

The big shots—Paul Whiteman, etc.—are not troubled, what with the talkies keeping stupendhero busy; but many excellent musicians are turning to other work. Hope is held out that synchronized sound is a fad and that the receiving cycle will again demand musicians in the flesh. But it is only a hope. Nobody is certain.

Among recent stage names announced recently are Ethel Intabagh, Oscar Op and Suzanne Whats. But the merriest of all as a chorine listed as Gladys Zell.

One of the interesting churches in New York is the Église de Notre Dame, perched on a high driveway near West 130th st. It is attended chiefly by French Catholics, and the altar was chosen out of an original stone in a Manhattan cliff.

A whimper nipped of 18 cornfakes swiping one of the cans supposed to contain Babe Ruth's home run record. Now it has been found that the can contained a substitute because he wanted to look like a man about town. In consequence the can, which was to be locked up to be looked upon as the most rare, a demand may inspire about a foreign hand to seemed to symbolize the farthest north in worldliness.

It is reliably reported a secret agreement exists among theater managers on the Rialto to refuse to rent theaters to anyone trying to produce at popular prices as matinee hour. That is why the extraordinarily talented Eva Le Gallienne had to rent an outmoded, tumbledown theater on 14th st. to exploit her utopian idea and popular priced experimentation. The play turn out to be an added boomerang for a wobbling institution. Miss Le Gallienne packed them in and her customers are largely Social Registerites.

The favorite dishes of visiting yokels in Broadway restaurants are oysters on the half shell and planked steak. But we bet a fluted cookie some of the boys now and then order an ear of sweet corn."

And for a new cafe: "It is permeated with a scent from Araby. Hidden birds carol roundelays while in the soft lit room is heard and there the thin blue flare of crepes supreme."

Terribly Far-Sighted

By Nelson Harding

This seems a case where distance lends
Importance to the view,
When larger objects near at hand
Look serious to you.

Our searcher with far-seeing eye,
And with indignant heat,
Is looking past the nearer form
And stumbling o'er its feet.

PREMIER MacDONALD'S visit to America brought up the now exhumed case of the Vice-President.

The astonished Ramsay, who didn't know the Vice-President had been,

He didn't even know the name of a Vice-President.

The case was smoothed out so that it will wrinkle again very easily. Sister last night took second place at the dinner table.

Lady Lasella Howard batted third.

They might have settled that question by numbering the guests like Harvard football players.

Getting so now that you are never sure whether the White House song will start a dinner or a fight.

Why not have Graham McNamee, the famous radio announcer, discuss all future diplomatic dinners to the ladies and gentlemen of the invisible audience?

Mrs. Dawes has just passed the silver to Lady Grumpps, who fumbled.

Ambassador Gibbs ordered a tomato surprise and was surprised when it hit him in back of the ear.

"The small talk suddenly got big.

"Secretary Stimson ordered a grape fruit and the coach lectured him between the halves.

"Sir Hobart Tweek has asked everybody to stop arguing about seats before the ticket speculators get wise to it.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

A ROAD runs through the forest near my feet. It is a rutted, weed-road, deep in dust. If I were built only that road, out of all the Sierra wilderness, it would be enough for a summer's wonder and joy.

By day, the road is hot and still, arched with shadows as dreadful as blazing light. At noon the soil seems white. The air above it wavers like water in the simmering sun. There is no sound, no odor of the grass or trees. The heat is like a hot hat that shuts out color, scent and sound. The dust goes up in silent puffs of smoke before your feet.

By 4 o'clock the heat has broken. The color and the fragrance creep back in cautious tide. The little sounds begin again. The earth is powdered cheval ashy rose. The manzanita trunks are coppery red . . . their leaves are greenish silver in the fading light. Small squeaks and sounds and chatterings arise and weave a murmurous web. And down the aisles of trees, above the chaparral, there drifts the smell of gums and berries and spring flowers, powdered with dust.

At night the road is like a trail of silver silk. And in the morning, when I go down to the spring, the record of the night is written in the dust. Hundreds of tracks . . . that road, so still at noon, served as a busy highway through the night.

Rabbit tracks, the hind paws leaving their deep scoop without the mark of toes . . . quail tracks, like tiny chickens, weaving here and there . . . dog tracks, of course. Great paws, to be a dog.

A track that's like a line of dainty stitching laid across the road—that herringbone stitching we once put on flannel baby clothes. Lizards make that. Small feet, beside a winding body, in a lightning streak.

The thin and winding ribbon of a garter snake and often the broad, blurry rattler's track, pushing the earth in ridges as he pours his heavy length up hill.

And lately, for the last six nights, the mark of a mountain lion. He's come down after turkey on the neighboring farm. Each night I hear him screaming by the spring . . . that hideous wild yowling like a woman who's gone mad . . . and feel the forest crouching, with held breath.

A hundred tracks of rodent, reptile, bird and prowling beast all written in the dust. And, in the middle, the deep plodding mark of MAN.

The other tracks are made by bare, wild feet. The man's mark shows the imprint of a covering shoe . . . AND SOMETHING ELSE . . . something that makes him master of them all, stronger than lion, subtler than the snake.

The other tracks were made by paw and claw . . . the man goes ahead in leather AND A MIND. A mind that sees and reasons . . . makes a plan . . . prepares itself against . . . and by imagination, makes a key to lesser lives and through that knowledge, gains a mastery.

A thousand tracks, deep in the dust of time . . . tracks that, today, are what they were ten thousand years ago. And straight across their scuffling, prowling trail the steadfast, plodding mark of MAN that climbs, through sun and shadow, UP THE HILL.

3-Minute Trips

By TEMPLE MANNING

BIRDS have ever been dear to the heart of man. In ancient days they were even looked upon as sharing with the gods a spot of divinity, for, with the gods, they alone could soar through the blueness of the heavens.

And then, with the spread of intelligence and knowledge, man had revered the bird because of its beauty, because it has made the world a pleasanter, happier place in which to live.

And, since the material things of the world cannot be ignored, the bird has been cherished because it usually is a beneficial rather than malefic part of these orlds animal kingdom.

All of which leads to the thought of the world's most valuable bird.

Bird of Paradise, the egret? By no means. Possibly these birds are among the most scarce, but they are not the most valuable. General opinion places that distinction on the guano, or Peruvian cormorant, which is found along the arid shores of Ecuador, Peru and Chile, where the cool Humboldt current hugs the shore. This stretch of South American littoral is fly-specked with small islands, and it is on these that the birds breed.

But why, you ask, is the guano so valuable? The answer is extremely material because they provide the world with an extremely valuable and efficient fertilizer. Thus, the excrement of the birds, is known as guano. In former years it was collected without thought or consideration of the birds, which might be nesting at the time. The result was the decimation of many flocks, for the parent birds would be frightened away, the young die and eggs remain unhatched.

A trip down this stretch of seacoast is not quickly forgotten. The hundreds of islands are rough, arid spots, which, as might falls, will be covered with hundreds of thousands of birds. As the flocks repair at dusk or day of feeding on anchovies, herrings and other small fish, which in schools are to be found in the Humboldt current, a beautiful picture is seen.

One of the largest of the guanay islands is Central Chincha Island. It is here that the Peruvian government has established its administration laboratory. Keepers, whose duties are as strict as those of a lighthouse keeper, are stationed on many of the other islands and do everything they can to protect the guanays from the ravages of their foes, chief among which are the condors. The keepers are crack shots and their rifles have brought more than one marauding condor to the end of its career.

THE MARRY-GO-ROUND

By HELEN ROWLAND

"DID you see my husband go past this morning?" inquired Mrs. Green.

"I saw something that looked like the aurora borealis flash by," admitted Mrs. Divot. "A boutonniere and a pair of spotless spats! A symphony in color, with socks, cravat and silk hanky all to match! A walking stick and a ribbon in the eyeglass! Was that John?"

"Yes," said Mrs. Green. "My own glorified mate! He's only keeping up with the procession. Going, Jimmie Walker, Grover Whalen and Beau Brummel, like all the other snappy business men. Going high-hat with the rest of them. Haven't you noticed? Wrinkled tweeds, carefree socks and rumpled haberdashery no longer distinguish the Big Busy American Financier. The Boss of the firm now dresses as well as the chief salesman, and sports quite as high a polish on his manners and his fingernails."

"Dear old-fashioned 'democracy'—which usually meant just bad-dressing, money-grubbing, eating with the wrong fork and using two negatives—is OUT! Hose and manners must be all-silk; and a garden in the buttonhole is as much a part of the office equipment as mahogany furniture."

"Bah," protested Mrs. Divot, "it's been only two months since the men paraded around in pajama and pondered against wearing collar buttons!"

"You don't expect men to be LOGICAL, do you?" said Mrs. Green. "Be thankful that they are trying to be ornamental! It's a healthy sign.

"My heart was entirely with their drag-reform revolt last summer; but I didn't expect it to last. Men are too standardized ever to quite anything more original in the dress problem than an extra button on the coat or a change of cuff links. They are too sensitive! They just couldn't STAND being stared at or laughed at—or, above all, DIFFERENT!

"But thank heaven, this new fad for putting on dog has gotten enough headway to make a well-groomed, well-tailored man inconspicuous, among his fellows. Soon, all the pack will be following their leaders, and the American business man will be the best-dressed man in the world. All America is going high-hat! We never do things by halves, over here!

"And the most cheering and wonderful part of it is its glorifying effect upon our MANNERS! Somehow, good dressing inspires a man to live up to his top-hat and silk hose and the flower in his buttonhole. A man simply can't be rowdy or boorish in a smart afternoon coat and flossy necktwear and a boutonniere. The rough diamond was usually just a roughneck—and I'm delighted that he's out of the picture. Give ME a little polish.

"So, if John wants to go Beau Brummel, I, for one, am going to stand by and wave a flag and shout hurrah. Because, a man just can't be Beau Brummel without going Lord Chesterfield!"

"Thank fate!" exclaimed Mrs. Divot fervently. "What's the use of having a Hispano Suiza to ride in, a landscape country place, a duplex town apartment, and a million dollars in the bank, if you've got a husband that just spoils the scenery and looks like thirty cents?"

THE DOOR OPENS FOR PEACOX

HERE stands Earle Peacox, young wife murderer, fastened by handcuffs to Sheriff Cherico, delivering him to the Sing Sing prison.

Crime doesn't pay.

This young murderer first strangled his wife, like a vile coward, then poured kerosene over her body and set fire to it. He said he burned his young wife because he was afraid it would hurt the feelings of his wife's mother to see her daughter's dead body—so he decided to burn her up.

She is gone, poor young woman. Whatever her mistakes in life, at least she didn't strangle or burn anybody.

Young fools contemplating crime may be sure that Peacox was not so well pleased when he woke up the morning AFTER this picture was taken.

On his right, just beyond the Sheriff, to whom he is handcuffed, stands the open door to SING SING, and on the other side of that door there is no cheerfulness.

No "lively parties" are "thrown" there. Cocktail shakers and bootleg gin are not available.

It is a dreary life, with regular hours.

Having thrown away your freedom, and your right to control yourself, OTHERS control you.

You GO TO BED when told, get up when told, eat what is put before you, WORK when told.

CRIME DOES NOT PAY.

This young man having ignored that fact goes to jail to serve a term of "from twenty years to life."

Under the best conditions he will be long past forty when he comes out.

That look of defiance will be gone from his eyes then. PRISON WILL BE STAMPED ALL OVER HIM. The most fortunate thing that could happen to him would be death before his term ends.

CRIME DOES NOT PAY.

Work may be tiresome and it may seem slow.

But work in freedom is a good deal better than work in Sing Sing.

Crime does not pay.
